Ohio Cities Object To CAB Report

Many Join Marion In Protesting Recommendations

Most of the Ohio cities affected by a Civil Aeronautics Board examiner's recommendations against establishment of a local air service network in Ohio have joined Marion in giving a rough going over to the report, The Associated Press reported from Washington today.

Columbus termed the report of Examiner C. Vernon Radcliffe "basically erroneous." Nearly all the other Ohio cities which would be denied air service agreed.

They did so in voluminous briefs filed with the CAB which next Tuesday will listen to arguments against Radcliffe's recommendations.

Will Represent Marion

Representing Marion at the Tuesday hearing will be J. B. Bray, Mayor Harold F. Robinson and former Mayor Harry Dowler.

Most of the Ohio cities—Marion, Mansfield, Columbus, Youngstown, New Philadelphia among them—object to Radcliffe's recommendation that Lake Central Airlines and Youngstown Airways, Inc. be denied authority to set up feeder line service in Ohio.

Marion and Mansfield are objecting to another recommendation, too—that the cities be served by Trans World Airlines as a single stop, forcing one or the other to lose air service.

In substance, Radcliffe recommended against local air service because of his belief there is not enough potential traffic to support the proposed service. He also claimed the government would have to pay out heavy mail subsidies to the feeder lines. Lake Central seeks to operate four routes in Ohio. Youngstown Airways has applied for permission to run non-stop service between Youngstown and Columbus.

Also Wants Route

One of Lake Central's applications also calls for Youngstown-Columbus service, but with stops at Dover-New Philadelphia and Akron-Canton.

New Philadelphia, in its brief, spoke for the small cities of the state which are suffering from inadequate surface transportation service.

"Our needs have been proven," it said, "We are without proper transportational facilities, despite the fact that we have adequate air fields, hangars, buildings and the requisite equipment to accept local air service."

Columbus sharply took Radcliffe to task for his interpretation of the evidence in the case.

It said:

"Despite the previous findings of this board (CAB) that there is need for . . . local service in these parts of Ohio, and despite his admission that the only experiment was in having a trunk-line carrier meet such need, and despite the clear and convincing evidence offered in this case by the Ohio Aviation Board and by the intervening Ohio cities . . . most of which evidence has been seemingly ignored by him, the examiner attempts . . . to reach the conclusion that there is no need in this area for local air service."

Great Need

The great need, said Columbus, is for air service "out in the morning and back in the evening" — a need it claimed can be met only by the proposed local service.

Columbus needs this kind of service, the brief continued, to connect it with Cleveland, Toledo, Akron, Dayton, Youngstown and the other cities on the proposed routes.

Youngstown and the Youngstown Chamber of Commerce said in their joint brief that "our dilemma transportationwise" stems from the lack of through service of any kind, save bus service, between Youngstown and Columbus.

The brief attacked Radcliffe's observation that inauguration of any pattern of local air service in Ohio should await development of helicopters. It said this comment is "somewhat extraneous" when domestic and world conditions are analyzed.

Marion filed a brief in which it said it "strenuously objects" to

Red Jets Fail To Halt Allied Bomber Strike

B-29s Carry Out Raid on Rail Bridge; 8 MIGs Damaged

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Oct 27—(AP)—Eight Russian-made MIGs were damaged today in a thunderous jet plane dogfight over northwest Korea as they failed to stop an Allied bomb strike on bridge and rail lines.

It was the seventh straight day the Communist jets whooshed out of their Manchurian sanctuary to challenge the air might of the United Nations in the Korean war.

On the ground, Communist night assaults in the east and west were repulsed in fierce fighting. In the center of the battle line Allied infantrymen slogged forward and secured a key hill mass southeast of Kumsong, battered onetime Communist stronghold.

In the latest air battle Allied pilots for the first time in months had an edge in numbers. The 112 Allied jets and eight Okinawa-based B-29s were challenged by 105 MIGs over Sinanju.

No Progress Reported On Buffer Zone

MUNSAN, Korea, Oct. 27 — (AP)—The United Nations today made it "perfectly clear to the Communists that their proposed Korean armistice buffer zone cannot be considered "any further."

The official U N spokesman said the Allied proposal for a line generally along the present battlefront was "not a flat take it or leave it position." The U.N. is ready to make minor refinements or modifications.

The U.N. Allies have "gained by combat a buffer or cushion that is necessary for protection" of U.N. troops and they will not give up this hard won ground as the Red offer would force them to do, said Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, official U N spokesman.

Subcommittees of the main truce delegations met for three and one-half hours in Panmunjom Saturday without "any tangible progress."

Religion in American Life Movement

Drive To Boost Church Attendance Planned

For the second year in Marion County an intensive campaign will be conducted during November Religion in American Life month. House to house visitation will be carried on by lay members of churches in the interest of the non-denominational effort, and hundreds of telephone calls will be made.

The R.I.A.L. program here is being sponsored by service clubs and various civic and farm organizations in cooperation with the churches.

Representatives from these groups held an organization meeting recently at the YMCA and elected Dr. G. G. Nuetzel, a service club representative, and Dr. J. B. Holloway, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, as co-chairmen of the 1951 campaign. William Noel is vice chairman, Dale Hartpence, secretary and Carl Haberman, treasurer.

Meeting Tuesday

Plans have been completed for the launching of this year's campaign at a community mass meeting to be held at Trinity Church, 220 South Main street, Tuesday at 8 p.m. when Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati will present Marion a national award for the work done in this county in last year's campaign.

Rev. R. W. Faulkner, chairman of literature this year, has ordered more than 17,000 door and windshield stickers and several hundred posters for distribution and display in store windows, in shops and public buildings, schools and churches. Jack Bray and Ben Lenavitt are co-chairmen of the committee in charge of distribution of literature in the downtown area and in the shops.

Representatives from Rotary, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Y Men, Exchange, Lions and Kiwanis Clubs have formed a speakers' bureau to promote the program throughout the city and distribute stickers and posters in the schools. R. C. Hurr and J. R. Lyons are co-chairmen of a committee to work through the Grange and other farm organizations in distributing literature to the towns and rural areas. Radio publicity is in charge of J. D. Torrance.

Women's Program

Mrs. Walter Hane, representing the Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Forest Flockencier, representing the Marion County Council of Church Women, will present the program to all the women's organizations in the city and county. House to house visitation is being organized by Rev. Evan Owen of Prospect Street.

Dock Hands Defy Truman Peace Plea

Face Action Under Taft-Hartley Act As Port Strike Spreads

NEW YORK, Oct 27—(AP)—Rebel dock workers braced themselves today for a possible tussle with the Taft-Hartley law after their leaders rejected a plea by President Truman for waterfront peace.

The President stepped into the East Coast port dispute last night with an appeal that the wildcat walkout end "at once" in the interest of national defense.

It took the strike committee just 14 minutes to turn down the President's request.

Mr. Truman now may invoke the Taft-Hartley Act. He also can call in the Wage Stabilization Board, which is consulted in matters affecting defense.

Under the Taft-Hartley law, Mr. Truman can seek an 80-day injunction to enable a fact-finding board to look into the dispute.

Leaders Stand Fast

Strike leaders stood on their demands for a new contract as they defied the President with the same stubborness they challenged their union, shippers, and city and federal mediators.

However, rebel leader John (Gene) Sampson hinted at a possible solution for the President. Sampson said the strike was continuing "as long as the President does not see fit to declare a national emergency."

President Truman's action came at the end of a day that saw the wildcat strike spread to Portland, Me., and Philadelphia. New York and Boston have been strike-bound for days, with more than 100 ships idle.

He acted after the New York Board of Trade appealed to the White House for intervention.

The strike, waged by dissident members of the International Longshoremen's Association (I.L.A.), has halted some military shipments and piled up cargoes estimated at $300,000,000.

30 000 Involved

About 30,000 longshoremen are involved, and thousands of other workers, such as truck drivers, have been made idle by the strike.

In his appeal, President Truman said in part:

"I have been informed the ports of New York and Boston have been virtually paralyzed and that equipment and material vitally needed for national defense is not moving.

"It has already been necessary to impose an embargo on railroad shipments to these ports.

" . . . this work stoppage has a direct and immediate effect on our defense effort. In the national defense interest, the employes involved in this critical work stoppage should return to work at once."

Sampson, head of the Manhattan local that sparked the strike, said the strike committee was "sorry" to tell the President the walkout would continue.

"But it's how the men feel," he added.

Stewardess Is Carnegie Medal Winner

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27—(UP)—A 24-year-old airline stewardess who died trying to save her passengers from a burning plane which crashed at Philadelphia Jan. 14 was among 27 persons awarded bronze medals by the Carnegie Hero Fund commission yesterday.

The medal given in recognition of stewardess Mary Frances Housley's heroism was presented posthumously to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Housley Sr., Fountain City, Tenn.

The commission granted pensions totaling $3,000 annually in four cases and death benefits amounting to $1,250 in two other instances. Awards amounting to $8,250 were presented in 18 cases for educational and other worthy purposes. Seven of the awards were made posthumously.

The acts of heroism recognized by the commission included 12 cases of drowning or near-drowning; nine rescues from burning; two from suffocation; two from train accidents; one from a mine cave-in and one from a runaway truck.

A-TESTS DELAYED

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Oct. 27 — (AP)—Stymied by weather conditions, the Atomic Energy Commission today delayed the rescheduling of a small A-weapon test run. AEC scientists decided to wait for strong 30 to 40-mile per hour northerly winds to sweep the area clean of clouds and fog.

Churchill Names Anthony Eden As Foreign Minister

Court Appoints Divorce Suit Investigator

Elmer J. Niskanen Named to New Post By Judge Smith

Elmer J. Niskanen, 51, of 316 Kennedy Court has been appointed an investigator for Marion County Common Pleas Court, Judge Paul D. Smith announced today.

He will conduct investigations in divorce actions.

Under a new Ohio law courts are required to conduct preliminary investigations when a divorce action is filed involving families with children under 14 years of age. These investigations, which will be the responsibility of Mr. Niskanen, will cover character, family relations, past conduct, earning ability and financial worth of the parties involved.

The new law requires an investigation of divorce actions before they come to trial. The statute gives the common pleas court authority to set up a new department if it is deemed necessary. The statute leaves the decision up to the individual courts.

Former Court Recorder

Judge Smith said Mr. Niskanen was well qualified for the work with several years' experience in court work. For 23 years he was personal secretary and court reporter for Judge Paul Jones, senior United States district judge in Cleveland, and in that capacity assisted in the installation of the Federal Court probation and parole system in 1940. He also has had wide experience in court investigations.

All investigations will be conducted in close cooperation with the attorneys representing the parties. Jude Smith said exact details of the arrangement had not been worked out but said attorneys probably would be interviewed by Mr. Niskanen and himself if time permitted after the filing of the petition. A complete discussion of the action will be held with recommendations from both attorneys being received.

Will Work With Child Board

In matters involving custody of children, Mr. Niskanen will cooperate with Mrs. Mildred Schuetz, executive secretary of the Marion County Child Welfare Board. The investigator will call at the home and conduct personal interviews in most of these cases.

Judge Smith feels that these investigations may lessen the number of mothers and children who must later go on relief or become the burden of relatives.

Fathers will be required to give more support to their minor children in the future, Judge Smith said. Special attention will be given to see that fathers do not shirk their duty or avoid their obligations in supporting their children.

The new investigator has been in Columbus for several days.

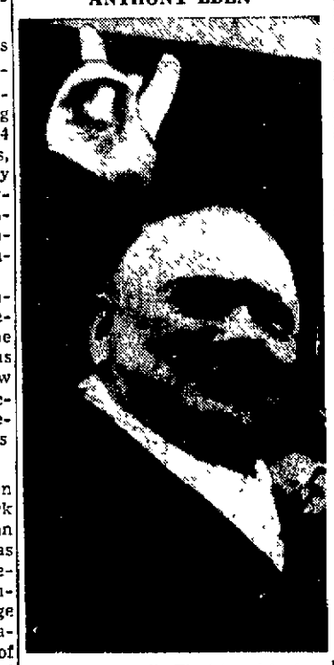
ANTHONY EDEN



VICTORY 'V'. Flashing his famous "V for victory" sign in London, beaming Winston Churchill leads his Conservative party back into power in Britain and once again heads the nation as prime minister. The 76-year-old former wartime premier ends the six-year-old Labor party reign of Clement Atlee.

Acts Swiftly In Forming New Cabinet

Decides To Retain Vital Defense Ministry Post Himself

LONDON, Oct. 27 — (AP) — Winston Churchill announced today that Anthony Eden would become his foreign minister and leader of the House of Commons.

Churchill also announced that in addition to being prime minister he would keep for himself the vital defense ministry.

Other cabinet appointments in the new Conservative government:

Lord Woolton, 68, lord president of the council with responsibility for food and agriculture.

Richard Austen Butler, 48, chancellor of the exchequer.

Oliver Lyttelton, 58, colonial secretary.

Sir Walter Monckton, 60, minister of labor.

Sir David Maxwell Fyfe, 51, home secretary and minister for Welsh affairs.

Marquess of Salisbury, 58, lord privy seal and leader of the House of Lords.

Lord Ismay, 68, secretary for commonwealth relations.

Eden Deputy

In addition, Eden will be deputy prime minister. It was announced that a deputy leader of the House of Commons will be appointed to help Eden in that job. This would give Eden more time to devote exclusively to the Foreign Office.

Lord Ismay and Monckton also were appointed to the privy council.

The appointments were made after ailing King George VI approved them at a special meeting of the privy council at Buckingham Palace.

They fill only the top jobs in the cabinet, which under Clement Attlee's Labor government had 17 posts.

Additional appointments to other ministries probably will be made within the next few days.

They must begin at once to size up the serious problems which confront the new administration—the persistent failure of the nation to pay its way in the world trade by which it lives, the Communist threat, and the taunts of defiant segments of a declining empire.

Churchill returned to office last night with a thin majority in the 625-seat House of Commons even though the narrowly-defeated Labor party won more of the popular vote.

Special police patrolled the streets outside his home in Hyde Park Gate, a short, dead-end street, as Churchill conferred in his bedroom with top advisors, including Sir David Maxwell Fyfe and Oliver Lyttleton.

Conservative party headquarters indicated Churchill's first announcement on his cabinet would be channeled through 10 Downing Street, official residence of prime ministers.

Long List to Be Named

Besides filling the top jobs, Churchill must also name 50 or 60 other ministers and assistant ministers to help plan and carry out his policies.

Yesterday afternoon, a few hours after the outcome of the voting became certain, Prime Minister Clement Attlee went to King George and resigned. Then the king summoned Churchill to Buckingham Palace and asked him to form a new government.

The weak and ailing monarch, still recuperating from a serious lung operation, kept the doughty, 76-year-old Churchill for 45 minutes to talk over policies and cabinet-making.

Then Churchill went home for dinner and a talk with Anthony Eden, his deputy leader and a man experienced in conducting British foreign policy.

Thus began the new government of Britain after precisely six years and three months of socialism.

During those years since he was cast from the postwar leadership of the country, Churchill has maintained a "shadow cabinet" of men ready to take over high ministerial posts should the Conservatives return to power.

They included Eden, publisher

FBI Arrests 14th Person On Embezzlement Charge

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27—(AP)—FBI agents held the 14th person today on embezzlement charges which cover more than $3,030,000 in the past 13 months.

The latest arrested is Paul J. Straitiff, 52-year-old cashier and director of the First National Bank of Indiana (Pa.). He is charged by the FBI with embezzling $30,256 in bank funds.

The arrest by the Pittsburgh office of the FBI last night is the 12th embezzlement case uncovered in Pittsburgh and West Virginia district.

Special Agent Fred Hallford said the balding Straitiff admitted taking the money. Straitiff said he knew he was misapplying the funds but said he had always intended to make the shortage good.

Hallford said Straitiff is the second employe of the First National Bank to be arrested since Sept. 25. He said the arrest followed the discovery that $40,000 was missing from the bank's cash reserve.

The other banker was Samuel Lewis, an assistant cashier. Lewis was arrested Sept. 25. The FBI said Lewis admitted taking $48,479 but Lewis said he replaced all of the money.

Churches To Observe Reformation Sunday

Tomorrow will be observed as Reformation Sunday by a number of Marion churches, commemorating the 434th anniversary of the event which resulted in the founding of Protestantism. Oct. 31, 1517, was the date on which Dr. Martin Luther nailed to the door of the Castle Church at Wittenberg, Germany, his 95 theses. Having called for reforms in the church of the day, he withdrew and started what is now the Lutheran Church from which, in the course of history, other branches and denominations developed.

Pastors have prepared special sermons. A union observance of Reformation Sunday has been set for tomorrow night by two churches of Marion, First and Salem Evangelical and Reformed, together with churches of the denomination from Delaware, Prospect, Green Camp, Waldo and Richland Township. The service will be held in the Salem Church here.

Emanuel Lutheran Church will celebrate the day at the morning service of worship.

Special music was announced as a part of the service at St. Paul's English Lutheran Church in the morning. The Junior Choir will sing "O God, Our Help in Ages Past," directed by Mrs. John O'Connor and accompanied by Mrs. James Sykes, organist, and Mrs. O'Conner and Mrs. Sykes will sing as a duet, "Bless the Lord, O My Soul."

Other churches announcing recognition of Reformation Sunday include Calvary E.U.B., and Wesley Methodist where the day will be designated also as World Temperance Sunday.

Where We'll Never Grow Old

A young minister pays tribute to his father and mother

It was a great day for C. R. Moore. For years he had directed the singing at the little Baptist Church at Drakestown, Ga. But on that Sunday in April, 1914, the old hymns had a special meaning. His son, James, was home on a visit from Mercer University at Macon and was going to preach.

Young Rev. James C. Moore looked out across the congregation with a heavy heart. He had been away only four years. But familiar faces that were young so short a time ago were showing traces of age. His nine brothers and sisters had grown up. And his mother, who waited anxiously to hear her oldest son preach, was breaking fast. Most of all, the 26-year-old preacher was touched by his father's singing. The elder Moore had been trained by the renowned A. J. Showalter and time was when he was known over most of Georgia as one of the finest singers in the state. But now his voice was failing.

Recalling that occasion of nearly 40 years ago, the Rev. James C. Moore recently related, "I felt so sorry for him. His voice broke and he lost the pitch of the tones and I knew I would not hear him sing much longer."

Thus, on the pulpit of that little Baptist Church in East Georgia was born the inspiration for an immortal hymn. Back in Macon, James C. Moore sat on the porch of his dormitory and wrote both words and music for his famous hymn. Then he wrote under the title "Dedicated to my father and mother." It has been sung all over the world and printed in hymnals in Australia and in sheet music in Canada. In a recent survey an average of 18 people in every church congregation interviewed said they have buried their loved ones to the comforting singing of "Where We'll Never Grow Old."

The Rev. James C. Moore, Sr., is past 60 now. He has one daughter and all three of his sons fought in the last war. "But they all came home," he said, "thank the Lord." One of his boys is following his footsteps into the ministry. And Rev. Moore is still preaching. He plans ot retire some day from his "very good church for a small town" at Abbeville, Ga., and move out to his farm at the headwaters of the Sawannee River. He has written more than 500 hymns, but he hopes to keep adding to the list until the Great Director beckons him to join his father and mother in "the land where we'll never grow old."

I have heard of a land on the far-away strand,
'Tis a beautiful home of the soul;
Built by Jesus on high, there we never shall die,
'Tis a land where we never grow old.

In that beautiful home where we'll never more roam;
We shall be in the sweet by and by;
Happy praise to the King through eternity sing,
'Tis a land where we never shall die.

When our work here is done and the life-crown is won,
And our troubles and trials are o'er;
All our sorrow will end, and our voices will blend,
With the loved ones who've gone on before.

Never grow old, never grow old,
In a land where we'll never grow old;
Never grow old, never grow old,
In a land where we'll never grow old.

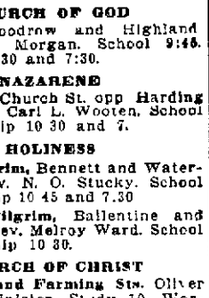
"Jesus came into the world to save the world and to save it by saving the individual sinner first of all. He came to seek and to save that which was lost. Jesus was not merely a perfect example, or a matchless teacher, or a great reformer, or a generous hearted humanitarian. No, He was infinitely more than that. He was a Saviour.



We need to understand too that He was and is now the ONLY SAVIOUR from sin. "There is none other name under Heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved." (Acts 4:12)

The above quotation is from Rev H. L. Zachman's book "Messages on Christian Beliefs."

Plan to hear the great truths of the faith presented in simple language and clear illustrations so that even a child can understand. Brother Zachman will be preaching every night from October 31st to November 9th at Calvary E.U.B. Church, East Church and High Sts.

Sound Doctrine

A Sermonette

By REV. M. E. HOLLENSEN

Pastor of Emanuel Lutheran Church

* * *

"For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine."
—II Tim. 4:3.

* * *

HOW these words of Paul, who by inspiration of God, characterize our age! How they describe the spirtual situation of the present time! The world treats contemptuously the mere mention of sound doctrine.

Yet if Paul spoke the truth and was no fabricator there must be such a thing as sound doctrine.

If sound doctrine does not exist, why do worldly men fight it? If there is no such thing as absolute truth in spiritual things; if the Word of God teaches nothing that is a fact as regards God, and man's salvation through Christ, why do men become so antagonistic to the Bible?

The trouble is not that sound doctrine or saving facts of Scripture do not exist—the difficulty is that scorners do not want to hear and to be reminded of the facts of God's Holy Word. Facts about sin and death and hell bore into a man's conscience, and produce unrest and discomfort. For these reasons many men want to make themselves believe that there is no absolute truth in the realm of the spiritual.

There must be such a thing as sound doctrine. And, furthermore, the scriptures alone reveal sound doctrine.

* * *

IF WE WANT to come in contact with doctrine that is sound and trustworthy, we must introduce ourselves to the only infallible source that we have, which reveals the saving facts of God, namely, the written Word of God.

If the Bible is the only authority in matters of faith and life, who shall undertake to interpret the Scriptures so that sound doctrine alone will result? Christ answers this question for us in an admirable way. There is no one person or persons designated by Christ as being gifted with the powers of infallible interpretation. Interpretation does not depend on what any individual thinks or believes the Scriptures teach, but explanation and interpretation depend on what the Scriptures themselves teach as truth. When the Master, on a particular occasion, interpreted the Scriptures, He did it by allowing one portion of the Word of God to explain another portion and thus by His own example taught that Scripture was to be interpreted and explained by Scripture. That is the method by which we arrive at sound doctrine. Christ is the key to the Scriptures, and we interpret the Word of God by the Word of God itself.

Here is the incident in the life of Christ when he interpreted the Old Testament for us. Satan had led the Savior to a pinnacle of the temple and had said, "If thou be the Son of God, cast thyself down: for it is written, He shall give His angels charge concerning thee: and in their hands they shall bear thee up, lest at any time thou dash thy foot against a stone." Satan was quoting Ps. 91. It is true—he did quote in a rather free way, but it was Scripture he was quoting, nevertheless. Then, however, Christ answered Satan by quoting Scripture. Christ and Satan both quoted from the Old Testament. Jesus replied to Satan, "It is written again, Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God." The Savior repeated Deut. 6:16. Who was right, since both were using the same weapon, the Scriptures? Christ by quoting Deuteronomy proved to Satan that before Psalm 91 could be interpreted correctly and soundly, the Psalm had to be explained in the light of Deuteronomy 6. The sound doctrine that Christ taught Satan was this: God does give His angels charge over men to keep and protect them, provided men do not tempt the Lord God by acts of needless daring and foolishness.

* * *

WHO IS RIGHT when two men quote Scripture? Sound doctrine results when all passages that the Scripture reveals about a certain fact and subject are diligently and prayerfully compared, and when an interpretation that does no violence to any one of the passages is then arrived at. Fractional Scriptural evidence was used by Satan, and is used today by men who have itching ears for everything but the truth.

When we have discovered sound doctrine, then sound doctrine must be believed.

After we have arrived at religious truth, we must accept it and believe it. The universality of sin and the condemnation of all under sin, the virgin-birth of Christ, the Blood-bought atonement through Christ, salvation by grace alone through faith—these are some of the cardinal doctrines of the Word. Doctrine must be believed, trusted and then translated into Christian living. And the truths of the Word of God will make men free, free from sin, free from the curse and condemnation of the law, and free unto salvation and eternal life.

WHY CATHOLICS "Keep Running to Church"

You've probably heard people comment at times on the fact that their Catholic neighbors go to church so often. Perhaps you have wondered yourself ... is all this necessary?

Catholics, you may be sure, have good reasons.

Going to Mass on Sunday is, of course, an obligation for every Catholic. Confession and Holy Communion at least once a year are a sacred duty. But most Catholics go to Confession and receive Holy Communion oftener ... some every month, some every week, some every day.

There are also many other special services and devotions for which Catholics go to church. In the average city, the Catholic Church is always open—and seldom empty. Many will enter the church at any hour of the day to visit Jesus Christ present on the altar, mindful of His invitation: "Come to Me, all you who labor and are burdened, and I will give you rest."

But, you ask, is all this necessary? Catholics believe it is.

They believe that Christ not only called upon us to honor and serve God ... but prescribed the ways in which we should do so. He did not say how often we must go to church ... nor how many prayers we were to recite. But He did establish a Church with the power and authority to carry on His work ... and He promised that His Church would last to the end of time—that it would have God's protection in teaching all men to observe all things He had commanded, especially to believe and to be baptized and thereby become members of His Church to attain the purpose of their lives.

And how do Catholics know theirs is Christ's Church?

Because it possesses the distinguishing marks Christ gave His Church. It covers the earth as Christ said it would. Unchanged after nearly 2,000 years, it continues to live and grow, in fulfillment of His promise that His Church would last to the end of the world.

But the most convincing mark that He gave it is its unity of faith, worship and obedience under the authority of the lawful and historical successor of Peter, the first Bishop of Rome and the "rock" upon which Christ built His Church. Just as Peter was the first Pope and the first Vicar of Christ, so also is Pius XII the 262nd Pope and the Vicar of Christ today.

If you would like to know more about the distinguishing characteristics which Christ declared His Church must have and which the Catholic Church possesses today, we'll be happy to send you without cost or obligation an interesting and enlightening pamphlet. Write today...ask for Pamphlet No. 2-N.

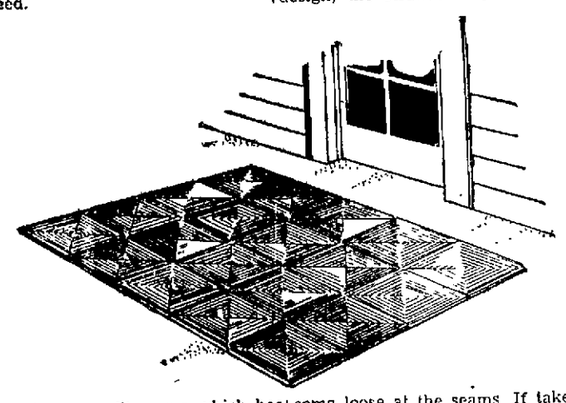
Care and Repair of Hemp, Fiber Rugs

Hemp and fiber rugs and mats are in general use today on porches, terraces and interior floors. Since they are quite inexpensive as compared to other types of floor coverings, the owner is apt to misuse them or neglect them; although it is a well-known fact that once they start to deteriorate by shredding out or unravelling, they go with amazing speed.



A hemp or fiber rug which has been on a porch or terrace for a whole season is badly in need of repair even though it has been swept daily. Its construction with thousands of seams in the material is an invitation to dirt. The best method of cleaning hemp or fiber is to spread it on the garage floor or on the lawn, hose it off thoroughly, scrub it with a coarse brush and plenty of soap-suds, hose off again and hang on a line to dry. Usually this will result in bringing the rug back to a new and clean appearance.

When this type of rug is being stored for the winter, it should be examined to see if it has started to break up in any way. As a rule, this commences with the squares starting to separate, or in rugs made of circular design, the strands may start to come loose at the seams. If taken in time, these are easy to repair, sewing up the breaks with big fishing line and a sail-maker's needle. The squares can be sewed together or the strands brought back close with a few stitches and knots. The repair should not be noticeable.

Many questions have come in, asking about the dyeing of the hemp fiber rugs. It can be done very easily by mixing the desired color of dye in warm water and brushing it on, or by diluting ordinary house paint with turpentine and spraying or painting it on. Of the two methods the dye is the best, as the use of the paint tends to harden the fibers and make them easier to crack or break.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Wood Finishing

Q: Will you let me know how I could mix a ground color and the graining preparation so I could have the varnished surface look like the new light wood finishes? I wish to have it look as if the wood grain were natural. I have taken off the old finish.

A: Artificial wood graining requires a great deal of skill and at best can not come up to the natural grain of any wood. You will get far more satisfactory results by using the following method: Lighten the color of the wood by using a prepared wood bleach as directed on the label. The next step is to apply white lead paste thinned with turpentine to the consistency of thick cream. After fifteen minutes or so, wipe off most of this with a coarse cloth, rubbing across the grain. A small amount of the filler that remains on the surface should be allowed to dry hard. Smooth the surfaces by rubbing lightly with "000" sandpaper, then wipe off the dust. Finish with two coats of pure fresh white shellac or varnish.

* * *

Streaks On Outside Walls

Q: There are many black streaks on the wall that have formed directly under lights or fixtures indicating they may be caused by rain dripping off and leaving a residue behind.

Q: The fixture should be removed and the backs of them as well as the surface should either be painted or varnished depending on the metal. When replacing the fixtures, spread a caulking compound over the area occupied by the fixture. The caulking compound will close up spaces of irregular surfaces, thus keeping rain from corroding the metal.

* * *

Dark Cistern Water

Q: We were offered a house to rent with a cistern for water for all purposes other than drinking. The water from the open cistern in the basement is very dark. Can this be cleared up? What about this from the standpoint of health?

A: If the water comes out of the cistern having a dark color, it is quite probable that the cistern needs cleaning. This calls for the emptying of the cistern and scrubbing down the walls and floor with a strong hot solution of washing soda or trisodium phosphate using abut two cupfuls to each pail of water. The surface is then rinsed with clear water. The reason why sediment and dirt accumulate is probably due to the lack of a diverter in the downspout leading to the cistern. The diverter is used to run off the first part of a rainfall which washes dust and other forms of dirt off the roof, then the switch is made so that only clean water will flow into the cistern. These diverters are sold by dealers in roofing materials. Dirty water may be contaminated and therefore it is advisable to keep the cistern as clean as possible.

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

IT SEEMS a safe bet that you'll never again see houses built exactly like homes erected before World War II.

Defense restrictions on the uses of steel, aluminum and copper are bringing about the second major revolution in home planning and building that has occurred in less than 10 years.

The first big change came with postwar building costs.

That shift saw the expense of lathing and plastering widely circumvented by dry wall construction. Interior woodwork was simplified with modest trimming strips in place of ornate millwork. Plain plywood doors replaced more costly paneled doors. Storage walls in the form of closet rows economized on interior partitions. Many basements were eliminated. And open planning merged dining room with living room—among various other sharp departures from tradition.

Now the American home is due for another shake-up.

The shortage of critical metals, coupled with rigid curbs on the size of mortgage loans, makes the construction of large houses difficult.

The National Production Administrator, who set the rations of steel and copper, predicts there can be no hope of relief from present shortages before 1953. By that time, judging from past experiences, new building practices will have had time to become so well established that even a plentitude of materials may never swing the pendulum all the way back. Houses definitely will be different.

* * *

ARCHITECTS are on the spot. Builders are looking to them to contrive plans that will stretch allotted metals to give home buyers a maximum amount of house for their money.

Since nails, all plumbing and heating pipes, electric wiring, reinforcing bars and sheet metal for flashing and termite shields are now effectively rationed in minimum amounts for every house—and since all structural steel, such as I-beam girders, H-beam, angle irons and plates are prohibited in one-family houses—the builder expects the architect to specify what substitutes, if any, can be used.

An indication of the importance of design in solving this dilemma was brought out at a recent meeting of the Long Island Home Builders Institute. A committee on merchandisable architecture reported on research in alternate specifications a builder may use and stay within weight limitations on controlled metals.

* * *

HERMAN YORK, a leading designer of small houses, reported as chairman of the investigating committee. With sketch plans of nine houses recently built in New York suburbs, Architect York showed where metal economies could be achieved.

He predicted that the use of wood girders in the place of steel beams will be one of the first substitutes that may noticeably alter design of a house. Shorter spans, permitted for wood will call for changes in plans for framing a house.

York also predicted that concrete columns may be due to appear in basements. These can be poured without reinforcement by the use of patented forms, which can be stripped, or left on the posts, as you prefer.

He explained that steel lally columns, while not included in the prohibition of structural steel, are counted in the 1,800 pounds of carbon steel allowed per house. However, adjustable steel jack columns, known as teleposts, are classed as "B" products and as such are not included in steel limitations on the job.

* * *

BUT THE COPPER shortage presents far greater obstacles than the pinch in steel. York showed the builders an example of how 35 pounds and more of copper could be saved by placing kitchen and bath back-to-back and as near the front of the house as possible. This location of kitchen and bath, combined with the divided bath to take the place of two baths, appears destined to be one of the major features in future house design.

A saving of 35 pounds or more in copper is a vital saving under the Controlled Materials Plan. Only 35 pounds of copper is allowed for any house using steel water pipes. Where copper tubing is required, 180 pounds is the top copper allowance. These amounts are scarcely enough.

Engineers for General Electric point out that 35 pounds of copper should be enough to wire a small five-room house, or a four-room ranch-type dwelling. The National Adequate Wiring Bureau figures 37 to 38 pounds of copper needed to wire a house of 1,100 square feet. Figures in both cases allow for electric range wiring.

However, the GE men have figured out a way to add two full sized rooms to a house without exceeding the 35-pound copper limit.

* * *

THEIR SYSTEM is to wire all switches with ordinary bell cord on a low-voltage transformer circuit that trips relays at electric outlets. This is the system used in the remote-control wiring that greatly increased flexibility of electric control in homes.

The engineers report that the use of this principle, without adding extra features, would make it possible to build a house of 1,360 square feet, using only 35 pounds of copper wire, instead of a house of about 1,000 square feet.

The difference is equivalent to two rooms, each 12 by 15 feet in size. And the wiring trick not only stretches the copper, but also saves 61 pounds of steel that would be used in conduits or jacketed cable.

Much depends on the wiring contractor, of course, but once such economies become established, the house of the future should move toward further embelishments of these practices, rather than backward toward prewar standards.

Britain's Political D.P.'s

IN GREAT BRITAIN when an election's over, as in the United States on the day after election day, everybody takes stock.

It is less important who won than it is that the winners should win gracefully and the losers should accept the people's decision in good grace.

Apparently, all is well in that respect. The most self-disciplined people in the world have risen to another occasion.

Winston Churchill's party has won a narrow majority in parliament. The balance of power in the election was held by Britain's "displaced persons"—members of the defunct Liberal party.

These moderates in British politics swung over to the Labor party in 1945; they put the Attlee Socialists in power, then and kept them there for more than six years. But in 1951, they have swung away from the Labor party and back toward the Conservative party—but not all the way.

Churchill, as prime minister, will be where a Republican president in the United States would be in 1953 if in next year's election the "liberals" of the United States finally swung away from the New Deal-Fair Deal and toward the conservatives by a narrow margin; i.e., small Republican majorities in the House of Representatives and the U. S. Senate.

There will be no drastic and no abrupt changes made by the British party in power because there has been, in fact, no drastic and abrupt change made by British voters. The liberals, free to move back and forth between extremes, have shifted toward the right. Mr. Churchill at 77 has another opportunity to make history, knowing full well that the history of England during the rest of his lifetime has been predetermined by events no longer susceptible to legislation.

This Idea Has Merit

IN THE closing hours of the baseball hearings by the house judiciary subcommittee, a former sports promoter named Larry McPhail proposed six major leagues. This startling proposal was his contribution to wisdom on the subject of what is the matter with baseball: that there is not enough of it.

As contributions before the subcommittee went, McPhail's was not the least by any means. The idea of six major leagues has merit, not merely for baseball but for some other American activities which leave something to be desired. For example, the United States needs half a dozen Gen. Harry Vaughans, which means it needs at least half a dozen White Houses.

The general was telling U. S. News & World Report the other day how he fits into the workaday operation of government. Be it to his credit, he is aware of the humor implicit in the situation. It is the nature of the American citizen to hold political influence in high esteem. Consequently, hundreds of citizens in the course of a year get in touch with Gen. Vaughan, who in turn gets in touch with whatever official they need to reach. This keeps him and a staff of helpers busy. Mr. Truman, of course, has the same problem, though in his case no outsiders get a chance to reach the top man. With six, eight, or maybe ten White Houses scattered about the country, part of what is the matter with government might be patched up. More influence-seekers could be made happy and some of the heat would be taken off the one and only Harry Vaughan, chief symbol of what it means these days to be from Missouri.

Isolationism for Others

POLITICAL analysts who have been sounding out opinion in the byways are running into a great deal of talk which might be called "isolationist."

The analysts are guessing that the state of mind reflected by this talk will be a potent factor in the 1952 election. They are guessing that the interventionist east and the internationalist west had better take stock of the noninterventionist and noninternationalist middle country.

Whether this is going to be a fresh outbreak of what is spoken of disparagingly as "isolationism" remains to be seen. These things change in relation to experience, and no one is able to deny that Americans have been having a great deal of experience in the field of foreign relations.

Out of that experience they are forming some conclusions they never could have formed previously. For example, many Americans now are beginning to see that isolationism for other countries, such as the Soviet Union, might be a blessing. It would rid the world of its fear of being taken over by agents of the Communist conspiracy. Governments fearful of being gobbled up by Russia could quit worrying about their sovereignty. Whatever may be wrong with isolationism for Americans, it at least can be highly recommended for the interventionists of the Kremlin.

The Eisenhower Puzzle

By David Lawrence

Herald Tribune Endorsement Adds to Interest

WASHINGTON

WHEN the leading Republican newspaper in the East—the New York Herald Tribune—announces on its first page that it plans to support General Eisenhower for the Republican Presidential nomination, it naturally evokes much comment in this, the political capital of the nation.

It is the first sign of opposition to Senator Taft that has come from any important quarter in the Republican party since the Ohio Senator announced that he would seek the nomination.

LAWRENCE

Even President Truman, who would like to throw monkey wrenches into the Republican party, had nice things to say about General Eisenhower at his Thursday press conference. There is a possibility that, by one of those curious turns of fate, the General may yet become the Democratic nominee if he is turned down by the Republican convention. So Mr. Truman who, this correspondent believes, does not intend to run, could be paving the way for an ultimate endorsement of the general.

In fact, the eligibility of the General for the Democratic nomination is being widely emphasized. Thus, Leonard V. Finder, former New England publisher, a Republican, to whom Eisennower wrote in 1948 declining to be a candidate, states in an article in Collier's magazine that the general might even accept a Democratic presidential nomination in the event the Republicans nominate Senator Taft. Mr. Finder declares that Eisenhower wouldn't seek the nomination and would accept the call only if it is "clearly an expression of the American people's wishes and there are no further war complications."

* * *

BUT TO THE SAME Mr. Finder—who was at the time the publisher of the Manchester Union Leader of Manchester, N. H.—General Eisenhower wrote on Jan. 23, 1948, a letter which was given to the press by the public information division of the Department of the Army because General Eisenhower was then Chief of Staff. In that letter the General said in part:

"It is my conviction that the necessary and wise subordination of the military to civil power will be best sustained, and our people will have greater confidence that it is so sustained, with lifelong professional soldiers, in the absence of some obvious and overiding reason, abstaining from seeking high political office . . .

"Politics is a profession, a serious, complicated and, in its true sense, a noble one. In the American scene, I see no dearth of men fitted by training, talent, and integrity for national leadership. On the other hand, nothing in the international or domestic situation especially qualifies for the most important office in the world a man whose adult years have been spent in the country's military forces. At least this is true in my case."

* * *

WITH THE FOREGOING, such an eminent personality as General Douglas MacArthur agrees, and it is for that reason that the latter has emphasized from the day he came back from Japan that he would not enter the political arena.

There are many persons, Republican and Democrat, who, while having a high regard for General Eisenhower, will not feel that he has the background and training to deal with Congress or with the many civil agencies of government. That will be the principal argument used against his candidacy—his own words. As for his comment about willingness to run when there is an "obvious and overriding reason," this, of course, relates to a large-scale war, when a military leader in the White House might fit the needs of the times even more than a civilian.

Politically speaking, General Eisenhower will have to acquire strong support in the ranks of the regular organizations in order to line up delegates against Senator Taft, and if he takes the position that he will run only if drafted, he has only a remote chance of ever getting enough to defeat anyone with as much political following as the Ohio senator probably will have when the 1952 convention assembles.

Too Rich a Mixture

By TRUMAN TWILL

IF NO ONE else wants the floor, we would like to say a few words about the automobile industry.

Several days ago we put in as miserable and hectic an hour as any human being should expect to spend in the machine age, trying to put back what is known as a fender skirt on one of the rear fenders of the Twillery taxmobile. Look, bright boys of Detroit, have you ever had to rassle with one of those things when your temper was frayed?

But that is not what we want to talk about, only a good place to begin. When we want to talk about is foi-de-rol on automobiles which everybody must pay for and only some owners want.

That is the only reason all that junk has been hung on the American automobile, like a mechanical Christmas tree—because customers could be made to pay for it.

If they were not willing to cough up or couldn't cough up, they had to buy someone else's used Christmas tree in a used-car lot. That is the economics of the situation.

But there used to be logic in situations like this, too. This is an appeal for logic. A buyer who does not want a Christmas tree all decorated up with a mess of glittery clutter which keeps falling off and has to be maintained at considerable cost is entitled to buy just an ordinary automobile.

He does not have to buy a suit of clothes beyond his means. He does not have to buy a mansion if what he wants is a cottage. He does not have to buy the double-steak dinner if all he wants is a ham sandwich. He does not have to marry a gold digger instead of a female who will take care of his money.

But when all he wants is an automobile which will do what automobiles have been doing ever since Henry Ford learned how to make them like wienies, he is barking up the wrong price list. The men in the button-down collars smile gently and reach for the telephone to summon the boys in blue when he tells them what he wants.

Who ever heard of a car with four wheels, two seats, an ordinary transmission, high mileage and low cost! Who ever heard of a red-blooded American who is not crazy about chrome, enough colored lights to open a joint and more dials and gauges than a cancer - curing machine in a quack's office?

Who? Why me, and millions just like me. No mystery about us at all. We just want transportation on terms that make sense—no Rube Goldbergian nonsense, thanks, just a car which will take us there and bring us back, which was the way old Mr. Ford, bless his memory, made a billion dollars.

There is a market for junked-up jalopies, just as there's a market for junked-up furniture, clothing and houses. And there is no law against catering to that kind of a market. But when did there get to be a law against catering to Americans who want to buy transportation, not fender skirts, radio aerials that go up and down, lights that go on and off, dual horns, snow-white tires and upholstery made of fine fuzz off the pink scalps of masterminds who went off the deep end and came up clutching movable spotlights in both fists?

Marion County History Brevities

"Old Cap Hardy's store" and "Cap Hardy's Corner" were names given to a store owned by Capt. Elisha Hardy, native of New Jersey. Born July 4, 1795, he moved to Delaware County in 1823 and a few years later came to Marion where he entered the mercantile business with Sanford S. Bennett. In the center of his long frame storeroom at the corner of Main and Center streets stood an open barrel of whiskey, said to have cost around 10 cents a gallon. A tin dipper attached to the barrel was an invitation to the customers to refresh themselves. The captain called it "free liquid refreshment."

Old Warrior's New Task

The 82nd Congress and Its Record

By George E. Sokolsky

THE first session of the 82nd Congress has ended in disorder and squabble because the President finds it difficult to accept the constitutional mechanism of separation of powers.

This Congress is in both its houses Democratic; yet, some of its committees have brought corruption and improprieties directly to the White House, thus placing the President, within a year of a Presidential election, in a defensive position.

The same Congress, through the Russell and McCarran committees, both controlled by Democratic majorities, has discredited the President's management of foreign policy as well as the conduct of our war in Korea. And these same committees have placed the State Department in the awkward position of needing to defend its every act as well as its personnel.

SOKOLSKY

It is significant that it has been Democrats, not Republicans, who have done this. Much is made of the attacks by Senator Joe McCarthy, but no matter what McCarthy has said, his utterances are mild compared to the data brought out before the Russell, Kefauver, McCarran and Fulbright committees.

During the past summer, I made a thorough study of the Russell committee testimony, which, as you may recall, ran about 2,000,000 words. Part of my study has been published under the title "Out of Their Own Mouths." It is the China story as told by the witnesses before the Russell committee and it definitely discredits the Administration.

* * *

NOW ALONG COMES Jesse Jones' book, "Fifty Billion Dollars," which is shocking, to say the least. Jesse Jones establishes by his testimony all that the Fulbright committee brought out in its investigation of the RFC—and so much more that one wonders whether there are any decent men left in all this vast country. It is an astonishing tale of callous men who used their country to their own advantage. Jesse Jones has done his country a great service; the more the pity that it should have been necessary.

To get back to the 82nd Congress, the President faces the fact that on the verge of a Presidential campaign he will not be able to curse the 82nd Congress as he did the 80th without attacking his own party. He cannot blame the Republicans for Kefauver's disclosures nor McCarran's. These are Democratic accomplishments.

The Jessup case is an example of the President's embarrassment. He had to stand by Philip Jessup or admit that the American policy in China had a Communist orientation.

* * *

BUT THE RECORD stands that a Senate subcommittee reported against Jessup's appointment to represent the United States at the United Nations. Then the Senate had to pass on 10 names and passed on nine. It dropped Jessup. It did not refuse to confirm him; it did not confirm him. It omitted him.

In a word, the President is given a chance to give Jessup an interim appointment, while Jessup's colleagues go to U.N. with a confirmed appointment. The President may have won this battle in a way, but he has wrecked the career of Philip Jessup, who has been made to lose face. How will Jessup explain to his colleagues at the United Nations that he was omitted by the Senate? What weight can his words carry? After all, these experts in government know that such an appointment as Jessup's requires, according to the Constitution, senatorial confirmation.

* * *

FINALLY, the President, on the last day of this session of Congress, appointed General Mark Clark as the ambassador to the Vatican. General Clark is a man of distinction and has served his country well. He does not deserve to be made an object of controversy. Appointing a full ambassador to the Vatican is a controversial subject on which there is a division in the country.

I favor such an appointment at this time, but not the method by which it was done. The appointment should have been made when the Senate could have confirmed the appointment and left upon it no stigma of trickiness. As it is now, this maneuver stirs an altogether unnecessary quarrel between Catholic and Protestant citizens, all of which could have been avoided. Those who managed this episode were not smart and will regret it.

So this Congress takes its vacation. The members have gone home to be with their constituents for some months until January. Then they must come back to a most unpleasant battle with the President. He wants his way; the Democrats will not let him have it. They dare not let him have his way if each one of them is to be re-elected, which interests these senators and representatives.

Rare Clay Heals

VANCOUVER—(AP)—A 400-acre plot of ground on British Columbia's north coast contains a deposit of rare clay for which enthusiasts claim remarkable cures for ailments ranging from simple cuts to arthritis and stomach ulcers. Dr. Ernest A. Hauser, professor of Colloid chemistry at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has devoted nearly a year to studying the clay on King Island, 265 miles north of Vancouver. He said the clay is outstanding because of its collodial quality. It is formed of particles as fine as the mist in a fog bank —and finer. Dr. Hauser said its healing powers are due to the powerful absorptive action caused by the tremendous surface area of the clay's collodial particles.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Letter To a Visitor

DEAR MAYOR IMPELLITTERI:

Welcome to New York and may your visit here be a pleasant one. The city and the manners and habits here will seem odd to you, at first, but you will please make allowances. One thing you will observe above all else is that the city leaves nothing undone to make things happy for the newcomer in its midst. I hope you will excuse the failure to provide a battery welcome, the usual Broadway parade and keys to the city. (Grover Whalen said you had been here before. But this was a long time ago and your visit at that time was brief.)

PHILLIPS

When you were last in New York the City Hall, the budget and Tammany were considered away uptown. Ground had just been broken for Rudolph Halley. There was talk of tearing down the elevated railroad and Frank Costello, Leo Durocher, the 10-cent fare, Barnum's Museum.

And the Rosenthal murder case was doing well. The Dodgers, the Brooklyn Grand Jury Judge Leibowitz and the Kefauver Committee were ahead by 13 full games. Jackie Robinson, Hill Prince, the Harry Thaw trial and the Florodora Sextette were the toasts of the town. Bob Moses hadn't perfected the atom bomb so it could be delivered BY LETTER OR CARRIER PIGEON.

* * *

Reles was still in his room in that Coney Island Hotel, Bill McAdoo was talking of a tunnel between New York and Jersey City, cigars were 5 cents, the common people could afford cigarets, the Survivors of the Blizzard of 1888 had just met and formed an association, and Sharkey was fighting Jeffries, not Halley.

* * *

The mayor of New York was promising to clean up Tammany, purify the city government, garbage was being collected daily and supplies badly needed by the G.I.'s in Korea were not being smilingly held up on New York docks. There was talk of doing something about smoke control, traffic congestion and the Judge Crater case. Gertrude Ederle had just swum the channel and the Giants had begun the search for good pitchers. Ah, the good old days when you were here last, Vinnie, my lad!

* * *

How the old place has changed! You can now travel from Park Row to Tammany Hall entirely by underground, horse cars are used only to carry out campaign pledges and the Gracie Mansion has tenants in it every now and then. How are things in the Caribbean, the Mediterranean and the Old World generally? Is there anything in the report you may run for the office of roving field agent for U.N.? And how do you like the New York skylines, American cooking, native taxicabs and North American music? Anyhow, again a hearty welcome and try to feel at ease here. If you want a guide and maps phone me.

All good wishes,
ELMER.

P.S. Don't tell us New York is all right for a vacation but you would hate to live here all the time.

Confident Living

Unlock Door To Kingdom Within You

—By Norman Vincent Peale—

THE BIBLE tells us that "The kingdom of God is within you." Just what does that mean? I firmly believe that it means that all of the amazing blessings and powers of God are resident in you—right in your own mind. But, despite the truth of this, the average person never learns to release the astounding power which is in his mind.

I was attracted by a recent article authored by James Webb Young on the subject of how to find and release the creative and useful ideas that lie buried within you. Young apparently learned to apply the power within himself and has become an expert in ideas.

Dr. Peale

Among other enterprises, he raises apples at a mountain ranch in the Far West. He says that the cold climate at this high altitude helps to firm the fruit and give it an unusual flavor. Mr. Young sells his apples by advertising to people all over the country. He puts sixteen carefully selected specimens in a box and ships them to his customers. They can get their money back if they are not satisfied that his apples are something special in fruit.

One year, just as his crop was ready to be harvested, a hail storm left unsightly brown spots all over the apples These did not harm the flavor or firmness of the fruit but certainly made it less appealing to the eye.

* * *

MR. YOUNG DEBATED with himself as to whether to send his apples out that year. He could ship them out with the possibility of having to make a great many refunds, or he could cancel his orders, sell the apples, to a cannery perhaps, and take a loss for the season. If he had been a lesser man, he would have been discouraged. Obviously these apples were not the perfect specimens he had promised to deliver in his advertisements.

But James Webb Young is a believer in the creative capacity of the human mind. He has always operated on the theory that there is a proper answer to every problem. So he relaxed, released the power within him, and allowed an idea to come to him from that great subconscious storehouse which exists within each of us.

* * *

WHAT WAS THE IDEA? He shipped his apples with a card enclosed. The card said "Note the hail marks which appear as minor skin blemishes on some of the apples. These are proof of their growth at a high mountain altitude where sudden chills from mountain storms help firm the flesh and develop the fruit sugars which give them their fine flavor."

The following year, Mr. Young had thousands of orders asking particularly for hail-marked apples. These have now become a specialty in a very successful and profitable business.

What would the average person have done in the same situation? He might have complained that a man just couldn't raise marketable apples in that country and gone down to failure. He might have asked his Congressman to get a subsidy for apple farmers subject to hailstorms. On the other hand, a man of real faith lifts himself above the average by doing what James Webb Young did. He goes down into the mind, the mind which was created by God, the mind that actually contains the kingdom of God, and gets an idea that solves his problems.

* * *

HOW CAN YOU do likewise? All you have to do is to take into account a simple and primary factor. If ideas are not coming through out of your mind, it is because you are out of tune with God, whose creative power is infinite. You can get in tune with Him by prayer, by study of the Bible, by going to church. Start doing this today and watch the power flow.

"The Kingdom of God is within you." Unlock it and it will change your life.

Marion Garden Center Notes

MOVING HOUSE PLANTS

Vacation time is over now for house plants which should have been outdoors recuperating from the rigors of indoor living. The move should be made while the weather is still warm enough to keep them on the porch or in a room with windows open during the day.

Those which are in active growth should have the top soil removed down to the roots and this replaced with a fresh potting mixture. The pots should be thoroughly scrubbed with a brush and water. Each plant should be given a shower with the garden hose and then drained well. If it is necessary to use an insecticide that should be done outside.

Poinsettias suffer severe chills when the temperature falls below 50 degrees Fahrenheit. The leaves will turn yellow and fall. They should be in a sunny window as should all plants which blossom.

All house plants should be watered sparingly the first few days after bringing indoors Use thick hot suds on the plant window before the plants are in place. This will serve as a germicide.

All plants should have as much light as possible.

Musical Notes

by Gene Shellhorn

How can we best make use of the rich abundance of musical talent in this country? Is top talent going begging for a chance to be heard? I there really no place for those who wish to make a career of music? Some cynical folks might have us believe that we're overrun with musicians and that "canned" music is doing away with a vast market for music. This is not so.

As the world expands . . . so expands the market. For people with true talent and the ability to work with self-discipline there is always a place. Fields yet to be fully explored are: TV music, teaching music, music in mental therapy, group music in the community. So if you or your youngsters are truly talented and want a career in music . . . you can do it.

And even if there's no particular talent . . . the personal expression, the satisfaction of creating music are compensation enough for hours spent in practice.

Playing in the school orchestra will give your youngsters the greatest experience. If your children are not privileged . . . it's high time to do something about it. We have the best selection of instruments in town. And you can easily afford our convenient term payments at SHELLHORN'S MUSIC STORE, 184 S. Main St. Phone: 2-2713.

Instead, Graesler said, he was amazed by the high standard of living in this country He also was tremendously impressed by the American system of government with its freedom of speech and press.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

NEW YORK

IF THE INTELLIGENCE officers and the confidential waterfront police squad were in a position to tell the grim inside story of the dramatic silencing of the world's greatest port at the current critical period in our atom-bomb blasted history, this is what they would say:

The sprawling waterfront gateway to Europe and the over-heated Near East, was paralyzed in one of the most cunning maneuvers ever planned and executed by the Communists in their rehearsal for revolt.

Victor Riesel

It was pulled with the most subtle agitation, with a minimum of effort and with but a handful of men led by a trio called Jim, Red and Midge

This move is of deep concern to all men who work for a living everywhere in the land, to every union chief who leads them, and to every employer who hires them.

Through crafty direction, this trio has been able to set the daily pattern for thousands of honest longshoremen, most of them devout Italians and Poles who have personal reasons to hate the Stalinists

So effective has this operation been that the intelligence agents who've swarmed over this city of dead piers hope it won't go unexposed and unrecorded. It won't.

* * *

FOR MONTHS NOW, the Communist waterfront section, working out of a political headquarters in Brooklyn, knew that some of the men who oppose the national chiefs of the International Longshoremen. Each day they would autoshoremen's Assoc would stir a two or three-day traditional revolt on the wharves after the new national contract was accepted by the union's negotiating committee It started on a few Manhattan and Brooklyn piers.

Watch closely now—for it might happen anywhere, in any ocean, lake, gulf or river port.

Immediately after it began, certain intelligence agencies, working with certain unions, spread their leather-jacketed observers along the idle docks. Standing around, hands in pockets, the observers couldn't be differentiated from the rebel strikers without an intelligence dossier in your hand. The observers walked up to strikers and asked:

"Joe, why are you striking?"

"I dunno," Joe would say. "Gene (or Jim) said go out. I dunno what they're striking for."

* * *

THAT NIGHT THE area was flooded with the "Dockers News," and leaflets printed in English and Italian. It laid out a program—the lefties' program.

Next day, Joe and his fellow workers picked these up. When the Police Dept.'s people, or the intelligence officers, mingled with the strikers and asked why the walkout, the men on the bricks recited what they had read in what they thought were honest rank-and-file strike leaflets.

That's the way the pattern was set Daily the Commies would distributes their leaflets from fast cars racing down the West Side Highway which runs above the Hudson River piers. Batches of throwaways would be heaved out of the speeding car windows. Each night the comrades would dump their literature on deserted docks some time after midnight. Each morning they would be found and matically set the pattern for the leaderless revolt.

Not once would the Party operatives show themselves. Instead, they exploited every hatred of one rival union faction for another, every irritation of the men over working conditions, every bit of decent anger against the mobs, whose bookies, loan racketeers and shakedown artists milk the dockwallopers. This was done with a handful of Communists, strategically placed. When, for example, the honest rebels, seeing their strike get out of hand, urged one mass meeting of 3000 confused, disorganized and almost leaderless men to work the military piers, up shot a well-spoken rank-and-filer, shouting:

"There's nothing vital on those Army docks—to hell with them."

* * *

A FEW MINUTES later, the speaker slipped out of the hall—but not before he swayed the crowd, which had the indecisiveness of the leaderless, to vote down working for the Defense Department. All over town these incidents occurred. A cnap would show up in denims. He would say, "to hell with the Ryan leadership." He would be asked what local he came from and who was his business agent. He'd shrug it off. A few seconds later he too would be gone.

All through this ran one refrain: Open up the contract. Reject the agreement. When the few officials who did step in and attempt to lead the revolt said something about going back to work if the employer agreed to reopen the signed agreement, the Dockers News appeared that night with the warning, "What we want from the shipowners is not just a promise to negotiate. Let's show the shipowners that we are out together until we win our original demands"

That became the chant, although it would take months. It is the most serious theme of all. For if a contract means nothing, if a rank-and-file revolt can force the junking of a pact between a union leadership and a corporation, or association of companies, then all labor relations is in tumult. Just watch the auto, steel and coal fields in the next six months We're back in the jungle, if this maneuver succeeds.

That's what the intelligence people have learned.

Spoiling a Husband

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

EUROPEANS ARE firmly convinced that American wives are the world's most spoiled women

But it seems to me that recently there has been a trend here in the other direction. Many American wives, tired of being spoiled themselves, want to spoil somebody else—usually the men in their lives.

How do you spoil a husband? Some wives are at a loss as to just how to go about it. They have forgotten the technique, it has been so long since they used it.

Hal Boyle

There is a right way and a wrong way. An example of the wrong way is the wife who wearied of hearing her husband complain of his dish wiping chores and hit upon this happy solution

"I'll surprise him by buying him an electric dishwasher."

That only gave him a new problem — how to pay for the new dishwasher. The first thing a wife must do if she wants to spoil her husband is to cut down the number of his problems

* * *

WHEN HE COMES home at the end of the day, lady, don't burst into a long tirade about your own vexations Just be standing there in the open door, patiently holding his slippers in your mouth Then pat him on his bald spot and say—first taking the slippers out of your mouth, of course—"Now you just sit down and rest, honey. Read your newspaper a while. Never mind cooking dinner tonight— I'll do it myself for a change."

If you've had a lot of household troubles, make light of them. Say merry things to him, such as "Well', the new maid bit me today, dear, and you should see the look on her face when I bit her right back. Ha, Ha!"

Your little man has spent the whole day trying to avoid making decisions at his office So don't force him to make decisions in his own home.

Are you going out for dinner? Don't say, "Why is it you never can make up my mind what restaurant we want to go to?" He knows that if he named twenty-nine different restaurants, as usual, you would decide to go to a thirtieth. Tell him, "Big Boy, I've always wanted to take you to the Chez Nous Choppery, and that's where we're going."

* * *

WHEN IT'S TIME to leave, don't stand by the door like a horse waiting to be harnessed. Get your own coat out of the closet and put it on all by yourself, for a change. And don't give him a glare if he's slow to open the door Reach out, grab the knob firmly, and open the door yourself. You'd be surprised at the power you have in your strong womanly hands.

That's the basic principle, if you want to spoil your husband Start doing for yourself again all the small things you have been forcing him to do as duties all the years of your wedded life Go even further—light up his cigaret once in a while.

One thing more. Husbands like to be courted They are always saying to themselves:

"My wife takes me for granted. I know she loves me, but she never tells me so any more."

So tell the big lug. Write little love notes and hide them in his pockets. It cheers him when he pulls out a handkerchief at his office and finds in it a note saying: "I always did like the way your nostrils flare, Oswald" He will go right into the men's room and flare his nostrils at himself in the mirror for half an hour, thrilled to the soul that you remembered.

That's all there is to it, lady. Just make him feel important. And the more you spoil him the more your dream boy will want to spoil you, too. That'll be your reward—he'll start courting you all over again, and mean it.

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

"I won't keep you but a minute," I told Bess Conway, with my voice lowered "Mildred has had a brain storm, says she will go on with this assignment, but that she must quit college beforehand because of the censure her elaborate costume will receive She is in straitened circumstances, you know"

"Yes, I know," Bess Conway breathed "Poor darling!"

'I telephoned my father at once, and he is coming in the morning to see her," I went on 'He says he will make everything right, and that she need not quit college I think she is hoping for some miracle If she confides in you—not otherwise—assure her that the Chief can work miracles, but if you suspect, as I do, what his miracle is don t tell her that"

Her face was alive with comprehension.

'I'll try not to stumble' she said 'And the tales I can tell her about the Chief ought to reassure the most hopeless pessimist"

"I knew I could count on you 'I told her, 'and now I m giving you a disagreeable mission Mildred and Bill are so lost to the world that I am sure they have not noticed our little colloquy—that would not be so good—but we have to break up this session So if you'll make like a mouse and get over to them, I ll repeat my admonition to everybody to go to bed Then you can break up the twosome and carry Mildred off to bed"

"They'll look on me as something straight from the Gestapo," she said, laughing, 'but I m game"

She joined the other group pausing for a laughing interchange of raillery with Hank and I raised my voice in a stressed adjuration

'I thought that I had dismissed this meeting," I said 'Will you please go to bed all of you''

I saw Bill and Mildred look up, startled, and then Bess Conway was speaking to them, while Junior and Roderick ranged themselves beside me

'We were just waiting for a good-night buss," Junior told me 'You were so busy with Bess Conway, you didn't have any time for your poor little boys'

They gave me the enthusiastic "busses" and "bear hugs" which always warm the cockles of my heart, and then sent a peremptory "Hi!" to Bill and Hank, still prolonging their colloquies with Bess and Mildred

'My great-grandfather," Junior piped "would tell you two lads to stir your stumps Please consider that I'm standing in loco grandparentis, and get the heck down to our quarters"

"Look well on your son, Auntie mine,' Hank declaimed, "while he's all in one piece He'll be dismembered in the morning"

Bill competently shut off any further remarks, and herded his brothers and his cousin out of the door into the corridor which led to their own suite Dicky put the night chain up after them, as Mildred and Bess went into my bedroom which I had given up to them

Then he came back with an emphatic second to the militant question I was putting to the Underwoods

'Wil you two tell me where you think you're going?" I demanded, halting them as they reached the door leading down the hall to Faith's room where they were to be quartered for the duration of Bess Conway's stay with us

'To our downy couch,' Lillian said, 'to which you just have kicked us'

'Come back here and get seated,' Dicky commanded, while we spoon some hash to you"

Price Controls Inadequate, Truman Says

Assails Special Interests in Speech Dedicating Parkway

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27—(AP) — President Truman said today that "the tools Congress has given us, to curb inflation . . . are not good enough to do the job as it should be done.

But he pledged his administration to do "its best" with the tools at hand.

Mr. Truman's latest attack on the price control law was in a speech prepared for the dedication of a small triangular parkway here to the memory of Samuel Gompers, pioneer American labor leader.

"Scores of special interests have ganged up together for the purpose of securing special short-run advantages for themselves at the expense of all of us," Mr. Truman said. He added:

Raps Amendment

"These special interests have adopted the principle that price control is all right if it does not require them to absorb a penny more in costs, or forego a penny of profit, no matter how high their profits may be This is the main idea behind the terrible Capehart amendment, which I tried to have removed from the price control law."

This referred to a provision written into the law to allow certain increases in ceiling prices in proportion to production cost increases since the original price-freeze.

Late Reports Boost Chest Fund Total

County contributions in the annual Marion County Red Feather Community Chest Campaign are mounting as workers at headquarters continue tabulating reports on the drive which officially closed Tuesday night. Two reports were received yesterday from county workers.

Although officially closed, campaign headquarters will remain open all next week to receive reports from county workers and also from division heads wishing to report on pledges not contacted during the drive due to the contributor being out of the city or some other unforeseen circumstance, J. B. Bray, chairman, stated today.

Residents of Caledonia and community contributed $153.75, it was reported yesterday by J. S. Cochran, head of the committee, and volunteer givers at LaRue upped their contributions by $132.50, Mrs. Russell Hardin, chairman, reported.

Subscribers to the Chest gave $89,567.88 in the 10-day campaign to raise $97,764 to carry on the work of the agencies in the Marion Community Foundation next year.

No Penny Slots In Modern Piggy Banks

HACKENSACK, N. J.—(UP)—Sign of changing values—penny slots will be eliminated on the new toy banks produced by a local company.

Mrs. Anna Payson, president of the Durable Toy and Novelty Corp., announced that from now on the firm's banks will have three coin slots—for nickels, dimes and quarters. Pennies won't register in the bank, modeled after a cash register.

"The government's recent request for families to turn in extra pennies to alleviate the copper shortage is one reason for the change," Mrs. Payson said. "But I've also observed that pennies mean very little to children today. They show little appreciation for anything less than a dime."

European Kids Hike Skunk Imports

WASHINGTON—(UP)—Skunks are being exported to Europe on the demand of children, according to the National Geographic Society.

The European youngsters want to see them in zoos.

Like its cousins, the weasel and mink, the skunk owns a pelt valuable to the fur industry. It also serves as an important killer of crop-destroying rodents.

The Geographic Society warns that the day may come when the government will have to preserve the skunk, as its mortality rate is high. Being an unsuspecting animal, it often roams onto highways where it is run down by automobiles. It also suffers from sinus trouble, distemper, and rabies.

The skunk, by nature friendly, keeps six repellent charges in two sacs under its tail and generally uses them only in self defense. At moments of great danger it shoots liquid from both sacs up to 15 feet in the air. Afterwards, its presence can be detected a mile away.

Churchill became the king's first minister fully aware of the towering obstacles confronting his administration.

"There lies before us a difficult time, a hard time," he said in his first post-election statement.

"But I do not doubt we shall win through because we shall use not only party forces but that growing sense of the need to put Britain back in her place."

The party forces at his disposal are not very substantial.

Moreover, Churchill's party came to power with fewer votes than were polled by the defeated Socialists. Virtually complete totals gave:

Conservatives 13,655,595.

Labor 13,877,922.

The Socialists got more votes than any party in Britain ever received and still stood as Britain's major party.

The Conservatives won by capturing more seats: Getting many of them on a narrow edge while the Laborites were compiling uselessly huge totals from mine and factory areas.

Churchill's slim majority in the House was an inviting target for renewed Tory-Labor sharpshooting.

Has 18-Seat Edge

With 620 seats decided, Churchill's party held an over-all edge of 18 seats in the House of Commons. That was slightly better than the six to eight majority with which Attlee retained power for 20 months.

But the Conservatives have never before matched the strict Socialist discipline for attending House sessions and toeing the voting line. The Socialists could well declare a war of attrition aimed to wear down the Conservatives, whose regime would fall if beaten in the House on a major issue.

Churchill himself set such an example to wear down the Laborites. He kept the House late at night to vote on technical issues, and forced snap votes on major policies. Many a night sick Laborites came on crutches and even in ambulances to save the government from a beating on a critical ballot.

The effect his slim control of the House may have on Churchill's attempts to revise the pattern of Socialist legislation affecting business and industry presented the aged statesman with a set of difficulties matching those of the government he displaced.

Along with domestic problems, Churchill's government fell heir to an array of unsolved foreign issues. They included Iran's oil, Egypt's claims on the vital Suez Canal, strained relations with the Soviet Union, and establishing closer relations with the United States.

Possible Truman Talk

Many political observers in London expect one of his first acts to be a flight to Washington to review policies of the English speaking nations.

Changes in the pattern of domestic economy and modifying the economic actions of the socialist government are expected to be put forward more slowly.

If Churchill runs into heavy weather in the House, he has two remedies for his small majority.

He can attempt to make a deal with the five Liberals elected to the House. Most are Right-wingers who might work with the Tories.

He also could carry out his party's pledge to restore 12 House seats to the universities. These seats were abolished by the Labor government in a redistricting act, passed during its first postwar term of office, on the ground they allowed professors and university graduates two votes—one where they lived and one for the university member.

Game Gets Too Hot—Boys Use Flaming Arrows

Police had to step in and stop a game of cowboys and Indians yesterday to prevent some small boys from burning down a few houses.

Police received a report yesterday at 5:48 p. m. that some boys near Bennett street were shooting fire arrows.

Investigation revealed the boys were wrapping the tips of arrows in an inflammable substance, lighting them and shooting them into the air.

Officers warned the boys of the danger to surrounding homes and broke up the game.

All of them went home after the warning, police said.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 27—(AP)—Charles P. Taft, brother of U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft, disclosed today that last January President Truman offered him the job as United States ambassador to the Vatican.

The position as ambassador to the Vatican was the one for which President Truman recently nominated Gen. Mark Clark.

Norwegians, Dutch Pool Atom Research

AMSTERDAM, — (UP) — Dutch scientists are experimenting in nuclear research with the aid of a powerful cyclotron, built a few pears ago at Eindhoven.

The Dutch have no intention—nor the economic strength—— to use atomic energy for war materials like atom bombs. They are trying to find ways to apply atomic energy to industry and medicine.

Most of the research work done here is still purely scientific without practical results. But some time is devoted to the production of radioactive isotopes.

The Philips/Roxane works is producing insecticides and medicinal products which are made available to the trade, but precautions are taken against unauthorized use and especially against the possibility of export to Iron Curtain countries.

Last spring Holland and Norway agreed to start cooperation in this field. The Norwegians had a research center ready at Kjeller near Oslo, and they had their "heavy water." The Dutch had a supply of uranium bought before the war and hidden from the Nazi occupation. Holland's top nuclear scientists, Prof. Cornelius J. Bakker of Amsterdam university and his Leyden colleague, Hendrik Kramers, are working with their Norwegian counterparts.

Sometime ago rumors about forthcoming atomic research cooperation between Holland and Argentina were officially denied here. These rumors arose from a visit Prof. Bakker made to Argentina, where he met the Argentine nuclear physicist Ronald Ritcher.

Big Upswing In Defense Housing Seen As Govt. Funds Become Available

By WILLIAM KERWIN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27—(INS)—Construction of new homes for defense workers is going to step up in the next few months and by early next year some officials predict full-swing production in many communities.

Congress gave defense housing a new lease on life in the past several weeks by passing a law authorizing the program and providing enough money in the waning hours of the session to put the plan in business.

Officials declare that Federal Housing Administration field offices will be ready by mid-November to begin the task of processing special mortgage insurance—carrying easy home buying terms—for defense housing projects.

One of the main problems hampering home building has been the shortage of mortgage money but this has been alleviated to some extend by drawing about 600 million dollars from the Federal National Mortgage Association for this purpose.

Thus, the money needed to finance liberal FHA home buying terms is now available although it is generally agreed private lenders will have to augment this supply with their own funds later.

* * *

MEANWHILE DEFENSE Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson is proceeding with plans to name additional critical defense areas where housing is needed for military families and production workers.

To total number of critical areas now stands at 51 and the list is expected to grow. About 150 communities are being considered as new defense areas.

Housing officials are agreed that the outlook for the first time in months is "bright" but their optimism is cautious. They have no idea how much housing will result from their program in the immediate future.

One expert says the next two months will tell whether the financial aids the government has made available will sufficiently spur builders to meet the pressing demands of overly-crowded defense towns.

If builders fail to respond, Congress has appropriated 25 million dollars for construction of temporary, portable-type housing units. Obviously, officials say, this small fund will have to be used sparingly.

* * *

THE NEXT TIME Uncle Sam goes hunting for land to locate a new atomic energy plant or Army post, speculators will have a tough time making a "killing" on land prices as has happened in the past.

Congress has given the government $6,250,000 to buy land around such installations for resale at a latter date to builders at fair prices. Under the set-up, the Atomic Energy Commission, for example, will secretly notify the Housing and Home Finance Agency that it plans to construct a new plant.

HHFA will then purchase land before public announcement of AEC's plans is made. Officials say it's good protection for the government as well as private citizens.

APPLICATIONS FOR federal housing insurance on co-operative housing projects continue to increase although the defense program has put a brake on the plans of numerous organizations As of Oct. 5, FHA says, more than 574 million dollars worth of co-op construction plans were filed with the agency. These applications, covering 520 projects, would provide 60,610 housing units.

The co-op program started off last year at a fast pace but bidding has been slowed down by mobilization and this has encouraged many groups to postpone their plans for the time being.

In a recent move, Congress set aside 30 million dollars from the Federal National Mortgage Association for co-ops and officials say this will help stimulate construction by solving some financial difficulties.

Since each state is limited to a maximum $3,500,000, however, big co-op cities like New York won't receive too much aid.

Your Good Health

Condition Often Fatal to Young Babies

Many parents are inclined to regard diarrhea in a baby as of rather minor importance. In many cases this proves to be the case, but it can develop into a serious condition with great rapidity, as is evidenced by the fact that pneumonia and diarrhea are regarded by medical men as among the greatest of killers of young infants.

This fact should alert parents to the need of obtaining speedy care for all babies with diarrhea however slight the ailment appears to be at the start. Hospital authorities, especially, should be on guard against epidemics of infant diarrhea which from time to time break out in nurseries for the newborn by immediately separating any affected infant from the others.

As a rule, the child with diarrhea is drowsy, refuses food, and has frequent stools; the skin then becomes dry and lacks fluid. If this condition is permitted to progress too far, shock will ensue and the infant may die.

Diarrhea in infants may be caused by infection with ameba, germs, or viruses, the latter being the most common Recently, diarrhea has been found to be due to an allergy of the intestinal system in some cases.

Most physicians control diarrhea in infants by the withdrawal of food for a period of from 10 to 12 hours. During that time, fluids and food may be given by injection into a vein or by slow drip into the rectum. It is important that the fluids given to the infant contain an ample amount of potassium, which is usually lost from the body in severe cases of diarrhea.

When the infant begins to eat again he should be given skimmed lactic acid milk or a powdered protein milk, which usually prevents a recurrence of the diarrhea. Dehydrated banana flakes have also proved very efficacious in treating diarrhea.

In mild diarrhea, the use of camphorated tincture of opium, and kaolin-pectin mixtures may be of help. If there is evidence of infection, the use of the antibiotic drugs, such as the sulfonamides, chloromycetin, streptomycin may be of great value

All cases of diarrhea in infants should be carefully treated by a physician so that the disease may be properly controlled.

School Office Commended By Examiner

Records Neat And Accurate, State Official Reports

The Marion County school office was commended in a state auditor's report filed at the office of Maurice Clements, Marion County auditor.

The report was on an examination of finances of all local school districts and the Marion County Board of Education. It was made by Ralph H Smart and covered the period from Sept. 30, 1948 to Sept. 27, 1949.

"Records at the county school office are neat and accurate in every detail and an excellent filing system has been maintained," Mr. Smart said. Minute books covered all business transactions and were properly attested to, he added.

Minor Findings

Only findings of a minor nature were returned against any school district. These included slight discrepancies in bookkeeping, where small amounts were found to be due school employes. Others included errors in the methods used in paying school bills and awarding school contracts. The largest was for $16. Mr. Smart recommended changes in procedures to correct these errors

Every school district in the county was listed with a balance in deposit. They were as follows: Caledonia, $672.03; Claridon, 949.06; Grand Prairie, $227.45; Green Camp, $2,352.61; LaRue, $2,268.03, Montgomery, $890.68; Morral, $2,487.93; New Bloomington, $1,507.34, Pleasant, $493.90; Prospect, $43,149.40 Scott, $111 67; Tully, $699.16; and Waldo, $256.05.

Athletic Association

The Marion County School Athletic Association showed a balance of $518.29. This organization was formed to conduct and supervise athletic contests between county schools.

The county board of education was listed as having a balance of $7,685 42.

PREVIEWS OF COMING ATTRACTIONS AT THE THEATERS

"Rhubarb" on Bill At Palace Theater

The story of a cat who inherits $30,000,000 — and a major league ball team—is told in the film, "Rhubarb," which will be shown Sunday through Wednesday at the Palace Theater.

Co-stars of the picture are Ray Milland and Jan Sterling with Gene Lockhart and the cat, Rhubarb, featured.

According to the story, the tough alley cat inherits the money and ball club from an eccentric millionaire. It continues by telling of the amazing instances which follow the inheritance. Ray Milland, the ball club's press agent, becomes the harried guardian of the Cinderella cat and soon becomes involved in a court battle contesting the will, the cat's true identity and the right of any cat to be so solvent. Then Ray's romance with Jan Sterling, the club manager's daughter, is suddenly suspended when she develops a sneezing allergy to feline fur. But the climax comes when the team refuses to play for its new owner.

For a midnight show tonight, the attraction will be the new suspense film, "The Strange Door," starring Charles Laughton and Boris Karloff.

With 18th Century France as its setting, the film tells a tale of intrigue behind the iron-bound doors of the chateau owned by the infamous Sire de Maletroit. In dungeon and torture chamber, the mentally unbalanced French nobleman, played by Charles Laughton, lures unsuspecting victims to their death. Only when one of his own servants turns on him is the Sire beaten at his own game..

Thursday only, the first of the Marion Community Concert series programs, presenting Eleanor Steber, will be given.

Friday and Saturday, the attraction will be "Reunion in Reno," starring Mark Stevens, Peggy Dow and nine-year-old Gigi Perreau. The comedy deals with the amusing problems of Gigi who heads for Reno, Nev., in an effort to divorce her parents.

VERA-ELLEN, DANCING STAR, has notable solo and ensemble numbers in the technicolor rhythm and romance film, "Happy Go Lovely," in which she is co-starred with David Niven and Cesar Romero. The film opens in a midnight show tonight at the New Ohio Theater and will play through Wednesday.

Roy Rogers Starring In Marion Film

"South of Caliente" starring Roy Rogers and his horse, Trigger, with Dale Evans, and "Pardon Us" with Laurel and Hardy, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Marion Theater.

In the former, Roy Rogers, as the owner of a deluxe service for the transportation of race horses from track to track, brings to justice racketeers who use outlaw violence to grab the great Pan-American sweepstakes.

Showing Tuesday and Wednesday will be "The Black Rose," technicolor adventure film starring Tyrone Power, Orson Welles and Cecile Aubry and featuring Jack Hawkins, and "Air Cadet," which has a cast including Stephen McNally, Gail Russell, Alex Nicol, Richard Long, Peggie Castle, Charles Drake, Rock Hudson and Robert Arthur.

"The Black Rose" tells of the adventures that befall two young Englishmen, a scholar and a bowman, when they go off in search of the wonders of the world. They fall into the service of Bayan of the hundred eyes, mighty conqueror making a pilgrimage to the Kublai Khan. On the trek, their heroism is tested by their rescue of a half-English girl known as "The Black Rose" from an Oriental world she would escape. "Air Cadet" tells the dramatic story of the training of jet fighter pilots for the United States Air Force.

The double feature attraction for Thursday through Saturday will include "Leave It to the Marines" and "Power River Rustlers." The former stars Sid Melton and Mara Lynn, and heading the cast in the latter is Allan "Rocky" Lane.

The former tells the story of a zany, lovesick hero who inadvertently enlists in the Marine Corps while trying to get a marriage license. The latter casts Rocky Lane as a railroad detective out to protect the people of El Dorado against a band of desperadoes.

Cary Cooper Stars In Movie at State

Robert Taylor and Louis Calhern are the stars of the film, "Devil's Doorway," which will be the main attraction of a double feature playing Thursday and Friday. Completing the billing will be "David Harding, Counterspy" starring Willard Parker and Audrey Long.

Saturday only, the double feature billing will include "White Savage" starring Maria Montez, Sabu and Jon Hall, and "Deep in the Heart of Texas," starring Johnny Mack Brown and Tex Ritter.

Vera Ellen Featured In Film at New Ohio

Opening tonight in a midnight show at the New Ohio Theater is the technicolor film, "Happy Go Lovely," starring David Niven, Vera Ellen and Cesar Romero. It will play through Wednesday.

Showing last times tonight is "Little Egypt" starring Mark Stevens and Rhonda Fleming.

Romance and music are combined in "Happy Go Lovely" which is concerned with the adventures of a romantic millionaire, a baffled song-and-dance girl and the troubled activities of a theatrical producer. It all starts when a modest chorus girl, late for rehearsal, thumbs a ride back to the theater. The show she is with has fallen on financial difficulties during rehearsal, and the producer is trying to stave off the creditors.

The car the girl arrives in is known to be owned by one of the wealthiest men in the section. Immediately, the girl is elevated to stardom, the millionaire begins to receive mysterious bills from strange dressmakers and furriers, and the producer is given time by his creditors to meet his bills. The millinaire, who becomes interested in the girl and theater life, is mistaken for a penniless newspaper reporter. When the police discover he is giving out large checks, they decide to close in.

Starting Thursday will be "The Iron Man" starring Jeff Chandler and Evelyn Keyes, and "Yellow Fin" with Wayne Morris.

The End of An Era: Louis Suffers Third Defeat With T.K.O.

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Oct. 27—(AP)—Joe Louis is through. Boxing has a new idol today in Rocky Marciano.

It's the old story of the ring. Youth must be served.

At 2:36 of the eighth round in Madison Square Garden last night, the old Brown Bomber was stretched on his back on the apron of the ring in a pathetic finish to one of the most fabulous stories in all sports.

Today 27-year-old Rocky, a one-time soldier, shoeworker, and ditchdigger with little more than three years of professional fighting behind him, was the toast of the town, the man of the hour.

The big brass of the International Boxing Club will sit down today with Rocky, born Rocco Marchegiano on Sept. 1, 1924, and discuss future plans for the new young tiger of the ring.

He'll be offered a shot at Ezzard Charles, the ex-champion, for February or March and a possible title shot with Jersey Joe Walcott next summer.

For Louis an old man of the ring at 37½ years, it's the end of the long trail—a trail that began 17 years ago and brought him to the world's heavyweight championship and ring earnings of more than $4,500,000. Now the road turns in another direction.

It was only the third loss in Joe's 71-bout career and the second knockout. He was kayoed in 12 by Max Schmeling in 1936.

For his victory, Marciano collected his biggest payday, about $44,000 Louis received about $132,000. Rocky got 15 percent of the net gate and of the $185,000 radio-TV receipts. Louis got 45 percent.

Decision Monday

Joe said he'd wait until Monday to make a decision about his fighting future.

"I don't want to make a hasty decision," he said through puffed lips in his dressing room.

He doesn't have to say it though. The crowd of 17,241 (gross gate $152,845) in the Garden and the 50,000,000 or more others who watched via a coast-to-coast telecast, know the answer.

Now the talk is all Rocky, the new wow of boxing, the hit of television. Thirty-eight fights, thirty-eight victories, 33 knockouts, almost a carbon copy of the string hung up by the once magnificent Brown Bomber.

And Rocky tore a page out of Louis' book in writing finish to it.

He belt the balding Joe with rights to the kidneys to take the drive out of his legs, he rushed him until the Bomber was befuddled and he finished him with the fury of the old Louis.

Leading on the scorecards of all three officials going into the eighth round, the swarthy Brockton (Mass.) belter, tore out of his corner with the advice of Trainer Charley Goldman ringing in his ears.

"Get him now."

Down Twice

He did. A scowl on his face, Rocky blazed after the tiring ex-champ. A left hook flush to the jaw dropped Louis. At two, he was on one knee while he listened to Referee Ruby Goldstein's count. At eight he was up . . . but he was done.

Marciano stormed after him. A right to the head dazed the Bomber. He tottered back against the ropes and his hands fell to his sides. Then a crunching left hook to the chin and a right to the head and Joe started down.

As the fall began, Rocky ripped another left hook to the body and Louis went through the ropes and on to the apron of the ring on his back. It was the way the Brown Bomber of yesteryear used to do it, too. Belt them while they're going and then they can't get up.

Goldstein took one look at the helpless champion and spared him a count. He waved his arms and it was all over.

Louis' comment on the big punch:

"I saw the right hand coming, but I couldn't do anything about it. I was awfully tired. I'm too old I guess."

• • •

NEW YORK, Oct. 27—(AP)—Tears flowed openly and unashamedly in Joe Louis' dressing room—but not from Joe.

There wasn't a dry eye—except those of the former great heavyweight champion. His were bright and clear.

Middleweight Champion Ray Robinson sobbed softly. Ex-Heavyweight Champion Ezzard Charles blinked and blinked. Others in the sweaty room, some of them veteran newspapermen, had large lumps in their throats. The only lumps Louis had were on his cheeks and forehead.

They all realized it was the end of an era. Louis' glorious and history-making ring days were over.

Secretly, however, those in the hot steaming room listened to the balding, 37-year-old gladiator mumble replies last night to countless questions, were glad Joe had lost.

Maybe now, they reasoned, Louis would see the light, and realize he is but a shell of his former self. Maybe now he would decide once and for all to quit before he suffered serious injury.

Louis had nothing but praise for Marciano, the first to score a kayo over him since Max Schmeling flattened Joe on June 19, 1936.

"He's a good, strong fighter, a stiff puncher and hard to hit," said Joe. "He knocked me out with a right hand, but it was his left that set me up. That one did the trick."

"I knew I was going to catch him with a left hook," Marciano said. "He was dropping his right."

Rocky took some punishment, too, and he showed it. His nose was bleeding badly and there were cuts over and under both his eyes.

"Joe's left jabs," he explained.

"What surprised me was that Joe didn't have much of a right. They told me he had lost some of his power, but I didn't expect nothing. That's what his right hand was—nothing."

Louis accepted his defeat calmly, too, calmly, his well wishers thought.

"It's no use crying," he said philosophically. "The better man won. That's all."

St. Mary Bows To Carey, 12-7, for 4th Loss

Winners Rally To Take 2nd Victory

By JOHN SHORT

St. Mary's most ardent rooters seemed willing to call it quits for the 1951 grid season last night after the Irish were handed a 12-7 lacing by the Carey Blue Devils.

Sparked by Bob Cole and Halfback Bye, the Blue and White offense ripped through the Irish line repeatedly for long gains. An intercepted pass and a fumble on the second half kickoff set up the Carey touchdowns.

Cole, who only Thursday had removed his hand from a cast and had seen little action for a month, intercepted a Jim Kilbury pass early in the second period to set the Carey crew on its way. He grabbed the ball at the Carey 35 and returned to the 45. Repeated jabs at the line moved the ball to the 12-yard stripe where an aerial clicked for the TD.

Pass Play Clicks

Dwight Orians hit Stan Plott with a pass in the end zone for the first counter. Plott leaped high in the air to take the pass from two Irish defenders. With the first half nearing its end, the Blue Devils took over on their own 20 when Dick Gunder punted into the end zone. With Nye, Plott and Cole alternating the Carey crew moved past the midfield stripe and on to the Irish 10 where they picked up a first down. The Irish forward wall stiffened and held for two downs as the clock ran out.

Carey kicked off to the Irish to open the second half, but Dave Merchant was jarred from the ball and Schmitz recovered for Carey at the locals' 31. The winners moved to the two-yard stripe from where Nye scored on a plunge.

The Irish took the kickoff and began a drive from their own 19. In four plays they traveled the 81 yards for the score. Kilbury hit Gunder for 24 yards to move the ball to the 43 and Dave Carr moved into Carey territory for 11. Mike Anderson slashed through the line for five to move the ball to the Carey 42. Kilbury then hit Gunder with a perfect peg. Gunder pulled the ball down without breaking stride and raced to paydirt. Kilbury added the point with a perfect place kick.

Carey Stiffens

The Irish failed to penetrate into Carey territory for the remainder of the game.

* * *

Last night's game was played before a "Dad's Night" crowd of nearly 800 people.

* * *

The Blue Devils kept the Irish off balance with a passing attack sandwiched in with the ground game. Once the defense was bunched, the Carey crew loosened it with long aerials.

* * *

The win was only the second of the year for the fired-up Blue and White.

The Irish have been winless since Sept. 22 when they trampled Zanesville Rosecrans, 37-19. They play Mansfield Madison next Saturday and wind up the season the following week against Elm Valley.

HOCKEY SUPERSTITION

NEW YORK (AP—Pat Egan, veteran New York Ranger defenseman, has a pet superstition. He shoots the puck into the empty Ranger goal before the start of each game. Egan, always one of the first Ranger players to skate on the ice at the start of the game, has been doing this stunt for many years.

Cage Fixers Released On $1,000 Bonds

NEW YORK, Oct. 27—(AP)—Ralph Beard, Alex Groza and Dale Barnstable, former University of Kentucky basketball stars, are free on bail today after pleading innocent on charges of fixing a 1949 tournament game.

The three unfrocked players were indicted yesterday on charges of fixing the March 14, 1949 game against Loyola of Chicago. They were also charged with conspiracy covering Kentucky's 1948-49 schedule.

The players were released on $1,000 bail each.

Groza, Beard and Barnstable are specifically charged with shaving points in the National Invitational Tournament game against Loyola in Madison Square Garden. Loyola scored an upset, 67-56, victory that snapped the Wildcats' 21-game victory streak.

Favorite

Groza allegedly received $1,000 and Barnstable and Beard $500 each for shaving the point spread. Kentucky was a 10 to 12 point favorite.

Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. G. O'Connor said the players also admitted receiving $100 each for three games they won by more than the point spread. The three games were against DePaul, Jan. 22, 1949: Vanderbilt, Jan. 31, 1949 and St. John's Brooklyn, Dec. 18, 1948.

O'Connor stated the players also admitted conversations were held between them and the alleged fixers on six other games but the players would not admit to any deals.

The six games, which involved going over the point spread instead of shaving it were: Notre Dame, Jan. 29, 1949; Bowling Green, Jan. 11, 1949; Bradley, Feb. 5, 1949: Xavier (Cincinnati) Feb. 25, 1949; and two Sugar Bowl games at New Orleans, Dec. 29 and 30, 1948 against Tulane and St. Louis respectively.

Brown Says Team Riddled By Injuries

CLEVELAND, Oct. 27—(AP)—The Cleveland Browns will be "up" mentally and "down" physically for tomorrow's game against the New York Giants, says Coach Paul Brown.

The coach gave assurances today his club would be full of the "old desire" to win, but doubted whether the Browns were in good enough physical condition to dump the club that beat them twice last year.

So far this season, 15 Browns have been on the injury list. Guard Bob Gaudio, End Mac Speedie, Tackle Lou Rymkus and Half Back Ken Carpenter have not fully recovered from their hurts but they'll probably play, anyhow.

"We're in the poorest shape we have been in all season, physically," Brown declared.

"The team is up as much as can be expected," he added, "but they are concerned about their condition."

The Giants—who move into Cleveland today for their final practice—also have an injury problem. Kyle Rote, star rookie left half, probably will miss the game because of a twisted knee.

Between 50,000 and 60,000 are expected for the game which will decide the league leader. The Giants tied Pittsburgh in their opener this year and then won three straight. They scored 21 points in a single quarter last Sunday while shading Philadelphia.

The Browns lost their opener to San Francisco and then won three straight.

Whether they can best the Giants "depends on Graham," Brown believes. The quarterback was at top form three weeks ago when the Browns dumped Los Angeles. Since then he has been off form as the champs coasted to wins over Washington and Pittsburgh.

Kenton Loses Homecoming, 31-13

Special to The Star

KENTON, Oct. 27 — Celina rolled to a 31-13 win here last night to spoil Kenton High School's homecoming observance.

The Western Buckeye League leaders scored early in the first period when Dale Ault plunged over from the five to end a 65-yard march. The second Celina TD came on a pass from Dick Haines to Ault to over 42 yards. Another Kenton fumble started a 57-yard march which ended when Julius Bader smashed over from the four.

Haines hit Ault with passes for the final two tallies. One covered 30 yards and one 16. Dave Davis scored his ninth TD of the year in the second frame for the Wildcats. He scooted around end from the eight after a 69-yard drive. Nelson Gaskins scored the other when he took a screen pass from Ault and moved 69 yards behind a wall of blockers.

Massillon Upset, 19-13, By Warren

WARREN, O., Oct. 27—(AP)—Warren Harding High School snapped mighty Massillon Washington's winning streak at 20 games last night, 19-13, in the biggest Ohio scholastic upset this season.

It was the first Harding win over the Massillon Tigers since 1947 and the first loss by the Tigers since Mansfield beat them in 1949.

Harding built up a 13-0 lead before last year's state champs could score their first touchdown.

Don Seem passed to Roger Bryant for a 24-yard touchdown in the first period and in the second Dave Rogers ended a 67-yard Harding push by running seven for another tally. That drive started when Curt Gear intercepted Henry Groom's pass on the Warren one and ran it out to the 33.

Massillon brought the score to 13-all by half time on a 44-yard touchdown pass from John Francisco to Bruce Brennen and a six-yard scoring run by Francisco.

Warren picked off a Tiger fumble on the Massillon 35 and moved to the clinching touchdown in the third period. Rogers ran left end for the final three yards.

Massillon drove to the Warren two in the final quarter but was shoved back to the five before losing the ball on downs.

B.G., Toledo Backs Seen in Duel

BOWLING GREEN, O., Oct. 27—Toledo's Asa Jenkins and Bowling Green's Fred Durig, both among the nation's small-college ball-carrying leaders, are expected to treat a near-capacity crowd to some scintilating T-formation running today at Bowling Green. Kickoff is at 2 p.m. for this 16th meeting of northwestern Ohio's traditional rivals.

Jenkins, in six games, holds the upper-hand to date with 761 yards, which averages better than 8 yards for the 92 carries. The 21-year-old sophomore has eight touchdowns to lead the Rocket scoring.

Meanwhile, Durig has romped for 710 yards in one less game. The ex-Mansfield Madison star has lost only 14 yards in 109 carries. He has scored four touchdowns, one a pass catch in the Baldwin-Wallace game.

The B. G. fullback made his best performance of the season against B.-W. last week when he jaunted 175 yards to lead the Falcons to their second win in five starts.

Durig may be hindered by an ankle injury which he received in a scrimmage session Tuesday and caused him to sit out two practices.

'Race of Doom' Top Attraction At Speedway

Another possible running of the "Race of Doom" will highlight the races at the Marion Speedway Sunday. A preview of this event last Sunday with just four cars participating left racing fans more than a little apprehensive at the thought of what might occur when some 20 cars run the race.

The "Race of Doom" is performed on the north and south sections of the Speedway oval, formed by a bisecting center track. For the event, the cars are evenly divided, and lined up in opposite directions on the center short track. At the flag, half the cars make the turn around the south half of the oval, the other half race around the north half, and both groups meet again in the short center track, going in opposite directions. And that's where the thrills come in. Any miscalculation on the part of the drivers, any motor failure or mechanical difficulty could end in disaster. And it probably will next Sunday at the Marion Speedway.

This is the last sceduled day of racing at the Marion Speedway, but Speedway promoters Albert Brazacchini and Cecil Addams procise even bigger and better attractions next year along with improvements in seating arrangements, public address system, and facilities for entertainment of children too young to appreciate the thrills their elders experience during the races.

In addition to the "Race of Doom" on Sunday, Promoter Addams has announced another championship trophy race.

There is one correction in last week's winner's roster: Winner of the last elimination and Australian Pursuit events was posted as Jake Chivington. The name should have been Johnny Edgar.

Central Soya Sales Reach New Record

McMillen Mills Parent Company Reports $127 Million

Sales of the Central Soya Company, of which the McMillen Feed Mills in Marion is a subsidiary, reached the highest level in the company's history in the year ended Aug. 31.

The company's annual report listed sales of $127 million compared with sales in the preceding year of $100 million and with the previous high of $104 million in 1948.

The record dollar sales were due in part to higher prices received for Central Soya products, but in still greater part to expanded soybean processing capacity, the report said.

New Storage Bins

Erection of new storage bins at the Marion McMillen plant contributed to this increased capacity. The company reported the soybean solvent extraction capacity here was increased 40 percent during the year. The storage capacity in Marion was increased from 1.2 million bushels to 2 5 million.

The company, which manufactures Mastermix livestock and poultry feeds, has other plants in Decatur, Ind, Gibson City, Ill, Harrisburg, Pa., and Memphis, Tenn

Although sales set a new record, earnings were down because of an increase in taxes.

Net Earnings

Net earnings before taxes were $8 5 million, compared with last year's $7.9 million. But provisions for state and federal income taxes totaled $3 9 millions, up 31 percent from the year before, leaving net earnings of $4 6 million as compared with the previous year's $4 8 million, the report said.

During the year the company paid a 50 percent stock dividend, paid stockholders cash dividends of $1 5 million, increased working capital more than $6 million, raised its storage capacity to more than 16 million bushels and brought near completion an improvement and construction program that will double soybean solvent processing capacity, the company said.

Embezzlement

1930's. He said an elderly woman gave him a number of government bonds for safekeeping

Straitiff told the FBI that in 1933 or 1934 Margaret Craighead from Florida wrote him to sell the bonds if he thought advisable

In 1935, Straitiff said, he sold the bonds and tried to communicate with Miss Craighead. Her letters were returned and he assumed she was dead.

He told the FBI that in 1936 he opened a checking account under the name of "Paul P. Straitiff, agent," He deposited $16,561 in this account from the sale of the bonds.

His next move, Straitiff said, came in April, 1936 when he opened a personal savings account in the name of "Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Straitiff, special." He said he transferred the money from the "agents" account to the "special."

From then until March, 1945 the FBI says, Straitiff drew on this account for his personal use. He told the FBI the original temptation was the cost of education for his daughter, Ethel, who since has died.

The FBI says Straitiff also stated he resorted to the practice of tapping bank funds by cashing checks drawn on his personal checking account.

Made Good

Straitiff indicated that funds embezzled by the later method reached a total of $13,691 by Sept. 22, 1951 He said he made good the shortage on Sept. 24 by substituting a check for the amount drawn on the McGregor Motor Co. of Indiana, in which he was a partner.

Straitiff waived a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Edward Snodgrass and was jailed in default of $25,000 bond. He will be given a hearing Tuesday.

He had been employed as cashier of the bank since 1933 and was past president of the Indiana Rotary Club. His arrest followed by two days the $338,901 defalcation of the Federal Credit Union at Kaufman's Department Store in Pittsburgh which resulted in the arrest of two union officers and a woman office manager. The union operated independently of the store.

Drivers Arrested On Traffic Charges

Margaret E. Jackson of Midland, Mich., was arrested this morning at 12:30 by state highway patrolmen on a charge of speeding on Route 23. She posted bond for appearance today before Mayor Ansel Lockhart of Delaware.

Three arrests yesterday also were reported by the patrol.

Ernest Ford, 40, of near Marion was charged with speeding on Route 30-S at 6:55 p.m. and was fined $15 and costs when he entered a plea of guilty in Marion Municipal Court today.

Harry Albert Kelber, 22, of Columbus posted bond for appearance in Municipal Court Nov. 2 after he was arrested at 8:15 last night for passing at the crest of a hill on Route 23.

Frank P. Mahaney, 27, of Grove City, O., was fined $15 and costs by L. P. Schoenberger, justice of the peace in Upper Sandusky, when he pleaded guilty to a speeding charge. He was arrested on Route 23 at 5:20 p.m.

Air Service

Radcliffe's recommendation that T.W.A. make a single stop at either Marion or Mansfield on its Chicago-to-Pittsburgh run.

"He apparently was influenced to some degree by the apparent nearness x x x of the two cities," the brief asserted. "He ignored the practical effect of such a proposal and entirely overlooked the need and right of the people of Marion and Mansfield to have air service at their own airports."

Marion asked that the present trunk carrier service be supplemented by local air service to the north and south, it said the city and the seven-county central Ohio area it serves need and do not now have air service to "important gateway and terminal cities" — Cleveland, Dayton, Detroit, and Toledo.

Like Marion, the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce asked for north-south service by Lake Central.

And like Marion, it seeks a three-year extension of T.W.A. direct service on that line's east-west leg.

Both Marion and the Mansfield Chamber insisted there are good grounds for keeping this separate service in effect.

"The record shows that this operation is profitable," said the Mansfield brief, adding that Mansfield ranks first of all T.W.A. temporarily certified cities in Indiana and Ohio in passenger miles, passenger revenues, tons of mail, express and freight and profit to the line.

Sizeable Growth

"It is a fact that during the one year of operation (by T.W.A.), there has been a sizeable growth of traffic in and out of Marion, that city's brief maintained, "and it is reasonable to believe that such growth will continue."

The Mansfield brief called attention to development of a lake front airport at Cleveland, which it said will be ready by early 1953 to accommodate DC-3 aircraft.

Development of this airport, the brief went on, "will create a traffic potential at Mansfield for local north-south service far beyond any essentials which have been submitted in this hearing."

Other Mansfield "community of interest" cities, the brief said, have airports "easily accessible to their downtown trading areas." It listed these cities as Columbus, Cincinnati and Dayton.

WHY DON'T THEY TEACH WORTHWHILE STUFF LIKE THAT IN FLYING SCHOOL, MR. BUCKET?

And if you get it, bigger income and withholding tax, bigger social security—
Okay, Pudge. Forget what I said!

Family Has Close Call With TV Antenna

GRAHAM, N. C. — (UP) — A warning to television owners was given by an electrician who discovered a local family had been "flirting with death" because of the way its television antenna was grounded.

Fred Fuqua said members of the Jay H. Burke family might have been electrocuted while taking a bath. Their television antenna was grounded on the stack pipe of the bathroom, causing a 110-volt charge to develop between the stack pipe and the bathtub pipes.

Had one of the Burkes touched the charged pipes while taking a bath he would have been killed, the electrician said. Only the fact that they heated water for their baths on a kitchen stove and thus did not touch the pipes while actually in the tub saved them, he said.

The incorrect wiring was discovered when Mrs. Burke received a severe shock while washing clothes in the bathtub.

SOMEONE ERRED

PERRY, N. Y.—(UP)—Someone in the Perry volunteer fire department made a mistake. When the village's new 39-foot 4-inch ladder truck arrived, local volunteers found it was three feet longer than the newly-erected garage it was supposed to occupy.

Find Proof Dinosaurs Once Roamed Texas

TEXARKANA, Tex. — (UP) — Anthropologists are exulting over the first positive proof that the mighty dinosaur once inhabited the Red River area along the Arkansas-Texas border.

The first dinosaur bones ever to be taken from the area have been found north of New Boston, Tex., in a gravel pit exposed by low water in the Red River. The fossils, apparently those of some grass-eating species, have been taken over by the Strecker Museum of Baylor University, Waco, Tex.

Prof. Bryce C. Brown, assistant curator, said the river probably washed the bones onto the gravel bed after sweeping over whatever unknown deposit holds the prehistoric reptile's full skeleton.

The man who made the actual discovery of the important fossils is Harget Ellis, who said he had been collecting such bones "for years." He happened to show some of them to a Texarkana attorney and the attorney contacted Baylor scientists.
